

5 MAY DAY BOMBS JAR CITY

COUNTY STARTS MOVE FOR 10 TAX RECEIVERSHIPS

Seeks Cash to Meet Public Pay Rolls.

County Treasurer McDonough yesterday made public the names of the first ten tax delinquent properties which he expects to take over as receiver in order that he may collect the taxes overdue on them.

The action of the treasurer is to proceed under the Skarda act. The Skarda act is that law sponsored among others, by Mayor Kelly in his struggle to bring about the payment of taxes as the only relief for school teachers who have not been paid and whose desperate situation is one among many symptoms of the breakdown of government consequent upon past years of misgovernment, waste and unjust taxation.

Ten Properties Owe $1,395,555.

The Skarda act was passed by the legislature last week to force large tax dodgers to surrender the revenue needed to pay salaries of teachers and city employees. The ten properties owe $1,395,555 in taxes which are delinquent more than six months.

As had been repeatedly indicated the public debts can only be paid by taxes, and as Mayor Kelly has said, taxes can only be paid when they are in conformity with economical spending.

The treasurer drew up the list in a conference with his attorney, Thomas D. Nash; George Hagenauer, auditor of his office, and Assistant Attorney General James G. Skinner, one of the authors of the Skarda bill. Notices will be served on the owners of the properties today that on Wednesday Mr. Nash will start proceedings against them in the Circuit court.

Cases Only to Collect Rents.

In cases where the properties are already in receivership this action will take the form of an intervening petition under the Skarda act, asking that Treasurer McDonough be empowered to collect all of the rents and revenues of the buildings to apply against their long unpaid tax bills. Where there are no receivers the treasurer will simply ask to be appointed receiver for the same purpose.

In giving out the list of properties Mr. Nash made it plain that the owners listed are those named on 1931 tax bills, and that in some cases the properties may have passed to other owners since 1931. The ten properties and the amounts they owe in 1928, 1929, and 1930 taxes are:

State and Randolph Building Corp. Capital	1928	1929	1930
Building	$116,747	$132,251	$222,746
Willeghoe tower	107,600	112,442
Stearns Safety Bldg.	60,856	174,811	268,805
Wells Van Buren Building Corp.	13,498	25,314	66,737
Washington Porter II.	2,355	8,783	20,766
Illinois Trust Safe Deposit Co.	58,953	76,327	82,553
Consumers Co.	4,875	5,933	5,409
Loew Miller & Co.	14,583	14,995
Samuel Phillips, 622 Broadway	2,801	12,177	13,440
Northeastern Trust Co. 2025 Clybourn avenue	40,616	44,087
Washington Porter II. is the owner of record of several downtown properties on Wacker drive and Wells street.

The treasurer and his attorney repeated their pledge yesterday that the provisions of the Skarda act are not to be directed against small home owners.

Efforts will be made to keep the tax receiverships free of the excessive fees for attorneys and receivers which have stained hundreds of private receiverships.

Treasurer McDonough will be appointed receiver in all of the tax cases. He will name as his agents employees of various local governments to supervise individual properties. These agents will get no compensation beyond their regular salaries.

Rush to Pay Personal Tax.

Treasurer McDonough kept his office open yesterday to receive payments of 1931 personal property taxes, on which the penalty date falls this evening. Payments during the day averaged about $30 each, an indication, he said, that small property owners are paying their taxes.

To date, payments of personal property taxes have totaled slightly less than 20 per cent of the levy, but today is expected to bring a last minute rush by large taxpayers.

TELEPHONE CO. AND BIG FIRMS ARE ATTACKED

Windows Shattered All Over Loop.

Five dynamite bombs were exploded in the loop, the near north side and the north central side early this morning in what police believe to have been a communistic attempt at May day terrorism.

The places bombed were:

The main offices and plant of the ILLINOIS BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY, 212 West Washington street.

THE HIBBARD-SPENCER-BARTLETT HARDWARE COMPANY at 211 East North Water street.

THE WILLETTS BUS AND TEAMING COMPANY, 225 East Grand avenue.

SPRAGUE, WARNER & CO., wholesale grocers, 600 West Erie street.

THE STRATFORD BUILDING, 418 South Wells street.

Bombs All Tied Together.

All bombings occurred about 2:30 a. m., the first being set off at the Hibbard-Spencer-Bartlett warehouse at the river. Less than three minutes later the second blast ripped open the main offices and stables of the Willett company, two blocks north. Within the next five minutes explosions occurred at the rear of the downtown telephone building, the Stratford building, and the Erie street grocery house.

An utter absence of ordinary motives for any one of the bombings led investigators to the belief that a communistic plot as a May day demonstration was behind them.

Property Damage Set at $30,000.

Property damage was considerable and conservatively estimated at $30,000. Buildings were damaged for blocks around each scene of attack. Only one man was injured, Hans Nelson, 47 years old, watchman in the Willett barns. He was cut on the left ear.

Police Commissioner Allan was notified of the concerted bombing attacks and immediately issued a general order to place police guards at all public buildings.

This was followed by informal warnings to industrial executives to protect their plants against possible attacks.

Hundreds of Windows Crashed.

Probably heaviest damage was done to the telephone company building. The bomb was exploded at the truck driveway, which courses below a large shedlike canopy. The blast shook this heavy overhead protector from its moorings and it crashed with a shattering bang upon the alley. Windows were shattered on the alley side of the building. Store and office windows in other buildings along Washington and Wells streets suffered similarly. Among them was the Terminal barber shop, which lost all windows.

Second Blast in Loop.

Just about the time the blast occurred at the telephone building a bomb was exploded between the Stratford building on the northwest corner of Congress and Wells streets and the Commonwealth Edison company plant at 214 West Congress street.

This blast shook the loop more severely than did its predecessor farther north. Arthur Mason, 3407 Roosevelt avenue, a watchman in the Marshall Field & Co. uniform and cap manufacturing quarters, which occupy three floors of the Stratford building, was knocked unconscious.

Chief damage was done to the three floors occupied by the department store company, although the electric company plant was severely damaged. Windows in both structures were smashed to bits. It was believed at first that the Edison company plant was the target of the bombers, but later investigation indicated the uniform and cap quarters were aimed at.

Steel Door Saves Building.

North of the river the Hibbard-Spencer-Bartlett warehouse, was struck heavily, but the bomb was tossed at a steel truck door, which was completely destroyed. Windows in the building and in The Tribune tower and other nearby skyscrapers were shattered by dozens.

Three minutes later the second north side blast occurred. It was a deafening detonation. It smashed in a truck entrance of the Willett company stables and wrecked the executive offices, which occupy the first and second floors. A smoldering fire followed. Hans Nelson, the watchman, was asleep at a point less than fifteen feet from where the bomb exploded. He was

LIMA, Peru, April 30.—(AP)—Luis M. Sanchez Cerro, 43, president of Peru since December, 1931, was assassinated today a short time after he had reviewed a parade of 20,000 young conscripts in training to fight Colombia.

His assassin, Abelardo Hurtado de Mendoza, fired several shots into the president's body as the executive's party started to drive away from Jorge Craves park and then himself was slain by presidential guards.

Two soldiers were killed and one officer, five soldiers, and a civilian wounded during a melee which followed upon the assassination.

Two Killed in Melee.

The attack was so sudden that elaborate precautions which had been made to protect the president's life were unavailing. A captain of the civil guards leaped on the presidential car and attempted to shield Sanchez Cerro, but without success. He, too, was struck by one of the bullets.

Soldiers who lined the sidewalk down which the president and his suite walked also were unable to stop the assassin before the president was mortally wounded.

The chauffeur of the presidential automobile put on full speed as soon as the shots were fired and drove to the Italian hospital while Premier Manzanilla held the unconscious president's body in his arms.

Dies in Hospital.

Curse examination by physicians at the Italian hospital showed that Sanchez Cerro had been shot in or near the heart. He died soon after being taken to the operating room despite the injection of serums and other restoratives.

The captain of the civil guard, Fortunato Bedoya, who was wounded, said he was supervising his men in maintaining order while the president passed on the way to his automobile.

Sanchez Cerro, he continued, was waving his hand and bowing to the crowd when suddenly a man dressed in black approached his car, whipped out a pistol and fired. The officer declared he thought the man was approaching the automobile to cheer the president.

Fire Upon Assassin.

The president fell with bullet wounds in his chest.

A heavy rain and wind storm struck Chicago and nearby communities yesterday, reaching its height in Kane county, where the wind, with tornado-like strength, wrecked the Community High school in Plato Center, eight miles west of Elgin, unroofed a shed at the Aurora race track, and damaged several barns. Three persons were injured, one in Chicago.

The storm struck hardest on the north and west sides of Chicago and in the north and northwest metropolitan areas. Hail accompanied the downpour here and in some of the suburbs.

Kane County Villages Hit.

Plato Center and Pingree Grove, which is seven miles northwest of Elgin, caught the brunt of the storm. The wind cut a 300 foot path in Plato Center and struck squarely against the high school. The structure is two stories high and was built six years ago at a cost of $70,000. It is estimated that $30,000 will be required to repair the damage.

A noticeable change in the air pressure preceded the storm at Plato Center. According to witnesses the sky grew black and little curls of dust came from the ground. Then there was a sudden roar and terrific wind and the roof seemed to float off the schoolhouse and the walls buckled.

"The whole thing lasted less than a minute," related John W. Schaaf, a teacher in the high school, who saw the storm strike from his front porch.

Near the school, the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson was also damaged by the wind. At Pingree Grove a filling station was unroofed and a number of barns were damaged.

Race Track Shed Unroofed.

The storm apparently skipped from Plato Center to the Aurora race track. There a portion of the roof of a shed sheltering four horses was torn off and carried more than 100 feet. Part of the debris fell upon an automobile in which Placido Fregio and Tim Smith, track manager, had taken refuge. They were slightly hurt. The horses in the shed were not hurt. The track will open today.

In Chicago the wind struck various sections. It tore down a sign board at 2217 Marshall boulevard, where Lester, 53 years old, 2257 Marshall boulevard, was knocked down by the falling board and suffered a broken leg.

Goldberg and Sass Quizzed on Abduction

BULLETIN.

Fred Sass and Morris Goldberg, kidnaped union officials, were found by the police at Central and Lawrence avenues early this morning. The men were seen getting out of an automobile by Policemen Herbert Salinski and Anthony Zamecnick, who were cruising the Irving Park district in a squad car. The policemen seized Sass and Goldberg on suspicion and took them to the Irving Park station, where they identified themselves. They declined to discuss the kidnaping or tell by whom they were abducted or how they were released. From the station the police took them to the detective bureau for further questioning.

Guerrilla warfare between two powerful gangs, each seeking to prey on branches of the teamsters' unions, was reported in progress yesterday following the kidnaping of two officials of an outlaw labor organization from their headquarters at 637 South Ashland avenue last Friday. The two kidnaped victims, Fred Sass and Morris Goldberg, were seized by Roger Touhy and his gangsters, who are reported at war with the mob headed by Murray Humphries, William [Three Finger Jack] White, and William [Klondike] O'Donnell.

It was learned yesterday that a notorious gangster had made an offer to Steve Sumner, secretary-treasurer of the milk wagon drivers' union, to kill Humphries, White, and O'Donnell if Sumner would pay $5,000.

Chief of Detectives Schoenmaker said his understanding of the feud was that the Touhy men were trying to gain control of the outlaw teamsters' unions, and that Humphries' gangsters were trying to get the territory. Either side being successful, one set of gangsters would dominate all the teaming in the city.

Sumner Denies Interest in Gangs.

Sumner, who is 74 years old and has been an officer of the union for more than 30 years, was interviewed at his home, 7343 Constance avenue, through bulletproof glass and steel mesh windows covering a portfolio for a rifle in the door. He said he is interested only in preserving his union, which has been menaced by Humphries, White, O'Donnell, and their gang.

In fighting to save his union he has worked with the authorities, the state's attorney's office, the police, and the Chicago Federation of Labor, he said. He declared he had nothing to do with the onslaught of the Touhy gang on the outlaw union stronghold during which Sass and Goldberg were kidnaped.

Sass and Goldberg had not returned home yesterday, but at Sass' home, 2320 North Parkside avenue, his wife said she had received a telephone call in which the caller said: "Your husband is all right and will be home in the morning."

Refuses Offer of Killers.

Sumner said he had rejected the $50,000 offer to kill off his union's enemies—an offer overheard by police—and he had not trafficked with the Touhy gang.

Last summer the headquarters of the milk wagon drivers' union at 220 South Ashland avenue was fortified and a machine gun planted across the street to shoot down the Humphries gangsters if they attempted an invasion. At that time, Sumner freely stated, he was fearful of George "Red" Barker, then the chief over Humphries, White, O'Donnell, and other gangsters as successor to Al Capone.

FEAR CONGRESS IS ABDICATING TO A DICTATOR

See Danger in Grant of Its Powers.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., April 30.—[Special.]—Apprehensions that we are drifting into a dictatorship like that of Mussolini and of Hitler, that the independent authority of congress is doomed to be snuffed out like that of the Italian parliament and the German reichstag, are beginning to reverberate in the national capital.

Republican leaders are sounding the alarm at the grants of enormous authority to the executive to remodel the economic system of the country and proposed grants of additional power to institute an approximation of state socialism in industry.

They assert the American constitution is being nullified, that congress is becoming a useless verminiform appendix in the body politic and that the result is likely to be a ministerial form of government like the British or an autocracy like the Italian and German.

Democrats Defend Action.

Democratic leaders defend with zeal the vesting of President Roosevelt with autocratic powers, which they assert congress is doing with no derogation of its authority. In order to meet an extraordinary emergency, they assert that congress can and will withdraw such grants of power when the emergency has passed.

To the extent that a dictatorship has been set up it is a constitutional dictatorship, the Democrats leaders argue, and some of them, advertising to such outbreaks as the Iowa riots, bluntly inquire whether a dictatorship or a revolution is to be preferred.

"It's now a question of inflation or insurrection," said one Democratic leader in defending the legislation being passed to authorize the President to inflate the currency and devalue the dollar.

Reed Leads Challengers.

Senator David A. Reed (Rep., Pa.) is the foremost challenger of the wisdom of the course being pursued by the Democratic administration and the congress with its enormous Democratic majorities in both houses.

"Without hesitation and without the slightest partisan resistance," he said today, "congress has given President Roosevelt dictatorial power over our banking system and over all governmental spending, including pensions. There are now pending in congress bills that will make of the President an absolute monarch over our currency system, our agriculture and our manufactures."

"There is increasing doubt in congress over the wisdom of these grants of power. Liberty has been ours so long that we have taken it as a matter of course. I feel that we are tamely giving away what our ancestors won at sword's point. It's high time to pause for reflection."

Robinson Not Alarmed.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader of the senate and administration spokesman in congress, perceives no cause for alarm in what is going on.

"Extraordinary powers," he said, "are being conferred upon the President in the principal measures of the present session of the congress. This is notably true of the economy act and of the bill combining the fair exchange value plan for lifting the prices of agricultural commodities with measures to refinance farm mortgages and to authorize limited and controlled inflation."

"The justification for extending unusual authority to the President is grounded on emergency condition, universally recognized, and the necessity for prompt and decisive action respecting details which cannot be worked out by the four hundred and thirty-five members of the house of representatives and the 96 members of the senate."

Cites Flexible Tariff Law.

"With respect to changes in the monetary unit, there is no material constitutional distinction as to delegation of legislative power from that embraced in the flexible tariff law which has been sustained by the Supreme court."

Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, Republican leader, feels that senate Republicans have about reached the limit of support which might justly be expected of them. He prom-used that future legislation seeking to delegate further powers to the President would have no easy time getting past the Republican opposition.

Speaker Henry T. Rainey (Dem., Ill.) sees in the present trend in this country only the universal aggrandizement of the executive power throughout the world.

"This delegation of authority of the President is certainly indicative of a change in the American philosophy of government," he said. "But it is a change in harmony with the psychology of the world."

"Every nation is now granting more power to the executive than ever before, not only in countries under a dictatorship but in nations where the rule, like ours, is in the hands of the people. And this new delegation of power to one person is meeting with tremendous approval everywhere."

Does Not Fear Dictatorship.

"But I do not believe we are approaching, or ever will approach, the system of government existing in Germany and Italy. An absolute dictatorship is impossible in this country because of the ideals of government and the cultural characteristics of the American people."

Representative Robert Luce of Massachusetts, ranking Republican member of the banking and currency committee of the house, found in the recent trend of government a closer approach to the British system than to the dictatorships of Hitler and Mussolini.

More fundamental and more indicative of the development of a new philosophy in American government, said Mr. Luce, is the initiation of legislation in the hands of the executive and not in the hands of the congress. In ministerial governments such as that of Great Britain, he pointed out, the legislation starts with the head of the government and works down to the people. As opposed to this system, our fundamental theory has been that legislation should originate in the hands of the people and work upward to the approval of the head of government.

Sees Some Advantages.

Yet in the transformation, evidenced clearly in the Roosevelt administration's practice of sending major pieces of legislation to congress, Mr. Luce saw some advantage.

The inability of congress to act on major measures; the unwieldy process of getting such legislation under way; and the virtual impossibility of crystallizing opinion hurriedly have made the American system slow and cumbersome, he said.

Senator William H. King (Dem., Utah), who has long been prominent in fighting the extension of bureaucracy, said that he had voted for the administration measures but had done so reluctantly.

"It is not a dictatorship that I fear so much as socialism," he said. "The disarming feature of political life in the United States is the willingness of the people to relinquish their individual and state rights in favor of letting Uncle Sam do it. They want everything given them from Washington."

"Our parliamentary government" has not measured up to its high state nor has it faithfully discharged its responsibility.

"It failed to bring about economy, to achieve reorganization of the government agencies and to keep the federal government within its legitimate sphere. It has responded not infrequently to extraneous forces like the Ku Klux Klan and the Anti-Saloon league, to powerful minorities and groups who have sought special legislation or the imposition upon the people of policies at variance with the fundamentals of a constitutional government."

"Of course, if the legislative branch fails to do its duty the executive will take upon itself responsibilities which it should not be endowed."

LONDON RIOTERS BEAT FASCISTI FOR BAITING JEWS

7,000 Attack Hecklers; Clash with Police.

BY EUGENE SPECK.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON, April 30.—A riot broke out in the heart of London tonight when an after theater crowd of about 7,000 persons surrounded and assaulted a band of young Fascists, who had hurled insults at groups of Jews in Piccadilly circus.

Police whistles were blown repeatedly as "bobbies" struggled in the street to rescue the young black shirts from the angry crowd. Seven men were arrested during the mêlée. All were members of the British Fascist Junior association. They will appear in court tomorrow morning.

Insult Jews at Café.
The trouble started when the Fascists, who had taken their stations at the entrance to an all night restaurant, began to insult Jews while hawking the publication, Blackshirt. This publication is sponsored by Sir Oswald Mosley, British Fascist leader.

The pedestrians, who included many Jews, resented the insults. First few were arrested during the mêlée. A crowd gathered. Police attempted to clear the streets to enable traffic to pass, but the throng refused to be budged. The combatants moved into Piccadilly Circus, where the police gathered the young Fascists around the base of the statue erected to Eros, the god of love.

The struggle continued. Police finally managed to clear a pathway through the mob and began to shove the arrested youths in the direction of the police station. The crowd closed in repeatedly and the Fascists were removed under police escort to the accompaniment of loud boos and hisses. Hundreds of cheering anti-Fascists trailed the column to the Vine street station booing and howling all the way.

Germany Celebrates Today.
BERLIN, April 30.—(AP)—All Germany, especially the German workmen, who hitherto knew only the "Marxist" side of workers' May day demonstrations, will be taught tomorrow to celebrate this feast of labor in a National Socialist manner. Even the Reichswehr [army] will participate for the first time since its existence.

With May 1 legally declared a national holiday for the whole Reich, the new Nazi propaganda ministry headed by Dr. Joseph Goebbels, will meet a big test of efficiency, for the organization of the nationwide festivities rests solely in its hands.

The day will be crowned by Chancellor Adolf Hitler's announcement of the first year's program of his widely heralded four year plan. He will disclose one-fourth of his labor creation program in an address to the masses from a specially erected grandstand in Tempelhof field.

Elaborate Program Fixed.
An elaborate program, filling every minute of the day, has been arranged, intended to remind 65,000,000 Germans of the importance of the "day of national labor" as it has been officially named. All details for the festivities were completed today.

Police, meanwhile, discovered a se-

CRUSADERS TO ENLIST STUDENTS IN BATTLE AGAINST PROHIBITION

Fred G. Clark, commander in chief of the Crusaders, foes of prohibition, announced yesterday the organization of a junior division of the Crusaders for men 18 to 21 years old. The first organization will be perfected tonight in Lawrenceville, N. J.

"The Crusaders, through their fight to substitute for prohibition a sane and practical solution of the liquor problem, have learned that powerful organized minorities can be overcome only by the militant activities of numbers," the announcement said. "They have been awakened to the forces of destruction which are at work to ruin this nation, and they realize the increasing desire of the still younger, red blooded, patriotic men to add their strength to the crusade for responsible government."

By creating the junior division the Crusaders are making it possible, for the first time in American history, for the power inherent in this younger group to be crystallized and effective.

Mr. Clark will deliver the keynote speech tonight. The immediate creation of Crusader battalions in high schools and colleges throughout the country will follow, he said.

At a meeting of communists in a suburban forest, and arrested seven men. At Schwerin Andreas von Fietow, a landowner, was shot dead while attempting to escape from police who had arrested him on suspicion of having committed a political misdemeanor.

The German Federal Press association today adopted a resolution pledging allegiance to the new régime and declaring that Jews and Marxists will not be admitted as members in the future.

The fate of those who already are members will be decided from time to time as local boards may dictate, it was announced.

TRAP CRACKSMEN SUSPECTED.
Joseph Bell, 23 years old, and Daniel Leary, 24, wanted by Boston police on charges of safe cracking, were arrested yesterday by detectives when they called for a money order at the office of the Western Union Telegraph company.

hurled upward from his cot and showered with debris and heavy pieces of timber.

Garage and Café Damaged.
This blast broke every window in the Old Fort garage at 237 East Grand avenue, a short distance from the Willett place. It knocked out a plate glass window in the East Way restaurant at 261 East Grand avenue, seriously damaged the Siren mills at 207 East Grand avenue, and roused from bed seven members of the family of Rudolph Becker, living in a small house at 215 East Grand avenue.

While downtown police and fire apparatus were hurrying to the north side and loop explosion scenes, north side police were called to the Sprague-Warner building at 600 West Erie street. Here a dynamite missile was laid or tossed at the front entrance. It was unusually powerful.

Marble Lobby Wrecked.
It tore down two large concrete pillars which parallel the entrance on either side. It cracked fissures in the marble lobby floors. Windows all over the building and in other buildings were broken. The bridge tender at the north branch of the river at that point was knocked from his chair.

Early no trace of the bombers was found. In only one instance—that of the Hibbard-Spencer-Barlett bombing—was any activity seen, and that when an automobile drove away from

FRENCH CABINET TO STUDY ABILITY TO STAY ON GOLD

PARIS, April 30.—(AP)—France's ability to remain on the gold standard, which daily becomes a more pressing problem, is among the questions, an extraordinary session of the cabinet will discuss immediately upon the return of former Premier Herriot from the Washington economic talks. The borrowing of $30,000,000 by the French government from English banks last week has been taken by the opposition as an indication of financial weakness. "Restore finances, or put on embargo on gold," said Paul Reynaud, former Premier Tardieu's last minister of finance, in Liberte, which Andre Tardieu, Reynaud and others have taken over.

CUBAN TROOPS HUNT FOR REBEL BANDS IN HILLS

Machado Declares Revolt Crushed.

BY GUSTAVO A. RENO.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright, 1933, By The Chicago Tribune.]

HAVANA, Cuba, April 30.—President Gerardo Machado tonight announced a complete victory for the Cuban army in suppressing the Oriente province uprising and rapid restoration of normalcy after an overwhelming defeat of the rebel forces late last night and early this morning. The president's official manifesto to the nation said:

"Complete tranquillity reigns throughout the island. The army in energetic drives against the enemy (oppositonists) last night and this morning successfully and overwhelmingly defeated two revolutionary outbreaks."

Army Recaptures Cities.
The manifesto, released at 11 o'clock tonight, reveals that soldiers are searching the hills in Oriente province for rebel bands.

"The cities occupied by the enemy for a few hours all are back in the government's hands now," Machado's statement continued. "Several groups of rebels, in hiding in nearby hills, have sent emissaries to the military authorities indicating a willingness to surrender."

"The soldiers were killed in the fighting. The 'enemy' experienced heavy casualties which have not been officially checked. The general staff considers the rebellion entirely and definitely wiped out and has voided orders issued for full mobilization of the army and dispatch of troops to Oriente province."

Civil Courts to Try Prisoners.
"Civil authorities will take jurisdiction over the charges against captured or surrendered rebels who participated in yesterday's outbreaks. Constitutional guarantees are not being suspended in Oriente province." All Cuban newspapers were ordered by the government to display the manifesto on the front page.

Publication of information gathered by Havana reporters of authentic stories from the rebel zones, special correspondents' dispatches from cities held by the rebels and all other exclusive information depicting facts far different from the government's official announcements were barred by rigid censorship.

Rebels Overwhelmed.
This information reveals that terror, panic, and frequent fighting reigned throughout the areas captured by the revolutionary expeditions from Jamaica and the Bahamas.

The rebels fought until they were overwhelmed by the heavy military forces. Few surrendered and many were massacred.

Railway and highway transportation will be renewed in the eastern half of the island tomorrow. Telephone and telegraph lines are being repaired by army engineers.

Dr. Cosme de la Torre, former ambassador to Washington and de facto president of the Union Nacionalista, leading organization of oppositionists here, issued a statement to Cubans tonight.

Claims Machado Planned Revolt.

"The rebel movement was 'conceived, prearranged, organized, and effected by the government in an effort to bring its opponents into the open and impress Washington with the erroneous conception that oppositionists are not only communists, anarchists, and traitors to their country but wholly irresponsible to govern, on that their statements and protests and acts be taken into serious consideration by the United States,' he said.

Dr. Torriente bitterly denounced President Machado's government for planning "this vile and misleading trap against oppositionists, who represent 90 per cent of all Cubans and oppose his reign of terrorism." He placed the responsibility for what he calls the "revolution fake" squarely on the president and every member of the government and their political advisers.

"The people of Cuba and the United States government should know by now that President Machado is capable of resorting to any unscrupulous tactics to mislead Washington," he continued. "If any doubt exists Washington will and should soon be fully informed by Ambassador Sumner Welles, who comes this week.

Ordered to Keep Peace.

"Two weeks ago, when the opposition learned that President Roosevelt had selected a man of Mr. Welles' caliber, orders were sent out by our executive organization, A. B. C. here and in Miami and New York, to maintain peace and refrain from the slightest disorder or violence until Mr. Welles is given a reasonable and ample opportunity to investigate Cuba's political disaster and adopt steps to straighten out matters.

"The orders, we are positively convinced, have been rigidly enforced in every opposition sector, although we cannot be held responsible for the sporadic government instigated outbreaks by irresponsible alleged oppositionists.

A "Fake Revolution."

"This 'faked revolution' was carefully planned and timed to occur on the eve of Mr. Welles' arrival for the sole purpose of demonstrating, beyond a doubt, and impressing Washington with the tactics and ideas the opposition has forbidden for the time being.

"Why did the government today call off the foreign press censorship? So the United States and the world would be erroneously and disfavorably impressed against us prior to Mr. Welles' arrival and as 'a last desperate effort' try to persuade him not to listen or pay the slightest attention to the opposition's side of the story or refuse to deal with its representatives.

"But Machado's abominable tactics collapsed, thus explaining his 'overwhelming victory over the enemy' in less than 24 hours after he himself had proclaimed that a state of civil war existed."

SCHOOLS URGED TO PUT EMPHASIS ON CITIZENSHIP

Recommendations for the teaching of citizenship in the Chicago public schools have been received by Supt. William J. Bogan from a committee headed by A. R. Hatton, professor of political science at Northwestern university. Expenses for the two year survey and report of the committee were borne by the Union League club.

A program for enlarging and expanding instruction in citizenship "when the fiscal condition of the city permits" was recommended by the committee. The group also compiled a handbook, "Government in Chicago," for use in the civics classes of the senior high schools.

"Chicago's topnotch growth has resulted," said the committee in its report, "in a mechanism of government extremely complex. The task of explaining its functions to immature minds, therefore, constitutes a special problem."

The survey showed that 67 per cent of Chicago's schools have some form of student government for training in civics. Ninety-four per cent of the schools reported participation in clean-up campaigns, membership in young people's councils, public speaking contests and membership in character building organizations such as the Y. M. C. A. and Junior Red Cross.

GANDHI TO FAST 3 WEEKS IN FIGHT ON INDIAN CASTE

Tells Son His Decision Is "Irrevocable."

POONA, India, April 30.—(AP)—The aged and frail Mahatma Gandhi announced from Yeravda jail today that on May 8 he will begin another fast, this time a "three week unconditional, irrevocable fast" in connection with his campaign against untouchability and the caste system.

The political and religious leader of thousands of Indian Nationalists summoned his son, Devdas, to the jail this morning and broke the news to him. For two hours the son tried to dissuade his father, but unsuccessfully.

In an interview the mahatma denied the fast was a part of a deep political move.

"It is a process of self-purification," he said.

Refuses to Be Specific.

Gandhi, who has been serving an indefinite term since his arrest by British officials on Jan. 4, 1932, under a regulation permitting arrest merely for "good and sufficient reasons" in connection with his passive resistance campaign, refused to give any definite reason for the decision today.

"As I look back on the immediate past I see many reasons too sacred to mention that must have precipitated a fast," Gandhi said. "They are all connected with the great Harijan (untouchables) cause. I have no desire to die. I want to live for the cause, although I hope I am equally prepared to die for it."

Fear Death for Mahatma.

Observers here who saw the mahatma after his one week fast last September fear the three week fast will mean certain death for him.

They interpret the decision as an expression of the mahatma's dissatisfaction with the progress of efforts of high caste Hindus to remove untouchability and his conviction that the untouchables (the lower classes) themselves are not yet confident high caste Hindus will "play the game."

The news of Gandhi's decision spread like wildfire. The prevailing feeling among his followers is one of bewilderment as the mahatma makes no demand the fulfillment of which would enable him to abandon his fast.

For a long time he has sought the revocation of the ban forbidding the "untouchables" from entering the famous Guravayoor temple. In December he conducted a brief fast in protest against the treatment of his fellow prisoners in Yeravda jail here.

SCENIC ILLINOIS LURES MYRIADS TO OPEN ROADS

Tribune Car Visits Some Beauty Spots.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Peoria, Ill., April 30.—[Special.]—With a brisk breeze shifting the skies alternately from rainy grey to spring sunshine, THE TRIBUNE roadster joined the half million pleasure motorists who were drawn to highways of the metropolitan area by the warm weather today notwithstanding the occasional showers.

It is the season when less threatening week-ends will find the roads of Chicagoland carrying a million to a million and a half men, women, and children finding recreation in the shifting scene from the pavements. No organized sport can claim such numbers. In addition to what social significance this popular enjoyment of the countryside might have, there is also an economic significance in that it puts about $20 million dollars a year into circulation, according to the American Automobile association estimates.

Orchards in Bloom.
Those who took to the open road today found that the high temperatures had greened the countryside to greet them. Fifty miles from Chicago, away from the weather influence of Lake Michigan, the trees and shrubs are leaved, orchards are in bloom, and summer song birds sing in woods that shade shy wild flowers.

THE TRIBUNE roadster sped from Chicago this morning over the fast 40-foot pavement to Joliet, and thence followed Illinois 7, 7A, and 29 along the course of the Illinois river to this second largest city of the state, 155 miles from the loop. The route much of the time is in nature's bluffs bordering a valley where man has dug a commercial waterway connecting the great lakes with the gulf of Mexico.

The roadster left Illinois 7 for Illinois 7A at Ottawa, skirted the new lake made by a waterway dam and reached Starved Rock State park in wooded cañons overlooking the river 20 miles by pavement from Chicago. There, on a limestone promontory, 140 feet over flowing waters, blue birds, cardinals, thrushes, and finches echoed mating songs where Sieur de La Salle and Henri de Tonti built Fort St. Louis in 1682.

900 Acres in Park.
This state park is 900 acres of trees, shrubs, wild flowers, birds, cañons, and bluffs, a refuge of natural beauty with a quietude belying its turbulent history, a beauty and quietude foreign and remote from today's commercial strife, yet accessible by two and a half hours' drive from the busy loop.
Just south of Peoria, on the west

KILLS BANDIT

Eugene Smith, 21 years old, who was killed early yesterday by Al Neuman when he attempted to break into Neuman's cigar store at 750 Fullerton avenue, had been found guilty twice of automobile thefts without getting a jail sentence, police records disclosed. First arrested in 1927, Smith was turned over to the juvenile court and later released. In 1931 he was arrested and found guilty again, and granted a year's probation by Judge J. William Brooks in the boys' court.

bank of the Illinois river, a new state park was visited. A monument, on a hill overlooking treetops for a view of the river and the city beyond, marks the place where La Salle established the first white fortification on Illinois soil, Fort Creve-Coeur.

This was in 1680. The place was abandoned following an Iroquois attack three months later in favor of the more secure site for defense at Starved Rock.

Oak Park Today Gets First Legal Beer in Sixty Years

Beer will become legal in Oak Park today for the first time in sixty years. The village board passed a regulatory ordinance nearly two weeks ago, providing that it would go into effect today. Actually beer has been sold in Oak Park since the village law was approved. However, only two permits to sell the brew have been purchased. The lack of interest among the merchants and restaurateurs is attributed to the ordinance clause prohibiting the drinking of beer on the premises.

SHOT EXAMINING GUN.
While examining a revolver, Joseph Bale, 32 years old, 4920 South Honore street, last night was shot in the leg when the weapon was accidentally discharged.

N. CAROLINA SIPS LEGAL BEER FIRST TIME IN 25 YEARS

Charlotte, N. C., May 1 [Monday].—[AP.]—The strains of dance orchestras, German bands, and home radios echoed across North Carolina this morning as Tarheels quaffed 3.2 beer and toasted "Der Tag"—the end of 25 years of aridity.

In one place it was the end of a 75 year dry spell. That was Lenoir, which went "dry" in 1858, shortly after the founding of Davenport College for Women.

The average price of the brew was around 30 cents per bottle, with some places charging 35 and others as low as 20 cents. An ample supply, prepared days in advance, was generally expected to result in lower prices. The celebration was calm for the most part.

Grain Dealer Found Dead in Car of Exhaust Gas

Kansas City, April 30.—[AP.]—William Murphy, 75, president of the Murphy Grain company, was found dead in his motor car near the Eastwood Hills golf course today. Police said he apparently had taken his own life by gas through a hose attached to the exhaust pipe.

834 MOTORISTS GET SUMMONSES IN LICENSE DRIVE

Police yesterday served 834 motorists with court summonses for failure to possess 1933 state license plates or city vehicle stickers.

The drive began last Monday on orders of Commissioner Allman, and with yesterday's arrests brought the week's totals above 18,000. There are known to be thousands of other automobilists who have not yet purchased licenses and the drive will be continued until they also are brought into line.

IOWA FARMER RIOTERS TO FACE COURT MARTIAL

Le Mars Civil Rule Suspended Today.

BULLETIN.

Le Mars, Ia., April 30.—[Special.]—With a total of 19 men arrested by squads of Iowa National Guardsmen, in their continuing search of four counties, an attempt to hold a meeting at Carroll was prevented today. Capt. Frank B. Halligan, former city judge of Des Moines, has been made judge advocate and will prosecute before the military courts in Plymouth county. The arrests to date cover suspects in the recent disturbance at the Shields farm and the mobbing of Judge Bradley. Those under arrest include several leaders in the groups that are held responsible for the recent disturbances.

Le Mars, Ia., April 30.—[Special.]—Under the placid exterior of this Iowa countryside, new ploughed corn lands rolling away to wide horizons, neat little towns with white houses and church spires tucked away in the hollows, the fierce fires of human warfare are smoldering.

"I guess this is Russia now," an old farmer said as he stood in the doorway of his barn, where his horses were taking their Sunday rest, and watched an army of trucks toiling through the mud, khaki-clad soldiers, rifles slung on their backs, clinging to the sides. The soldiers were looking for the old farmer's son, one of the suspects in the attack on Judge Charles C. Bradley in the courtroom last Thursday afternoon.

Larks Sing in Meadows.

Larks singing in the meadows, the green of the willows, the litter of pigs in the barnyard, all the homely sounds and sights of spring and nature, were unheeded while the farmers brooded upon their black prospects and wondered what the law, which they had held so cheaply, would do to them next. Their homes' good, then perhaps prison.

The state authorities are moving cautiously in this agrarian crisis. Soldiers are kept out of town and are scattered in squads of eight, a deputy marshal accompanying each squad, hunting down members of the mob that attacked and threatened to lynch Judge Bradley. Five more prisoners were brought in here today and five previously arrested were sent to Sioux City. The total arrests amount to 17.

A possible demonstration in behalf of the prisoners was feared. The Le Mars ministers touched lightly on the Bradley outrage. There is fear in town, the result of long intimidation by the farmer groups, and people are keeping still.

Immediate and thorough prosecutions are promised by all officials from Gov. Clyde Herring down.

Martial Law for County.

Martial law will be in effect in Plymouth county tomorrow. The order for that was issued today following a conference by phone between state officials and the commander of

ON WORLD CRUISE

Mrs. Vinnie Eisendrath of Chicago as she sailed from New York last week on the S. S. Santa Paula for a round the world trip.

(Lansing Photo.)

The Iowa National Guard, Maj. Gen. Matt D. Tinley directed that the civil courts be suspended in Plymouth county.

Cases in counties other than Plymouth may be tried in the courts under the law against criminal syndicalism. Two assistants of Attorney General Edward L. O'Connor have been assigned as prosecutors.

There are thirteen counties in this section where the feeling is acute, and martial law may spread to these unless the trouble is stopped now. There appears to be no way out for the farmers except to let the law take its course.

"Revolution?" said J. D. Cope, a third generation farmer in Kingsley township whose son, Morris, was one of the ringleaders in the attack on Judge Bradley. "What good would revolution do? I guess we've got it anyway."

Asks, "Where Is Justice?"

"Where is your justice? Can you get it in Le Mars? Can you get it in Des Moines? Can you get it in Washington? Answer me those questions. I used to own 560 acres. I have been going down hill for ten years because I could not get prices for my crops that would pay the cost of production. So I had to borrow. And then I could not pay taxes and interest. I tell you the money power does not know what it is getting into. If cheap prices why not cheap money? I am an honest man and want to pay my debts, but it just cannot be done." Cope said he believed the farmers had regarded Judge Bradley as arrogant when told to take off their hats and throw away their cigars. Cope added that the courtroom belonged to the people and not the judge, that "when the boys felt they weren't being treated fairly, they got excited, maybe hasty."

Came First as Friends.

"They came in like friends, just like you come in to my barn and talk," said the old farmer. "And he was sharp with them. They needed friends. He said something that sent them insane. They thought he called them a bunch of hoodlums in a speech down at Storm Lake. If he did not do that, he could have said so."

"The law?" said another farmer in the group. "Who makes the law? We will make new law. The bankers have made law long enough."

A third farmer said he had sunk $50,000 in a farm four years ago and now could not pay his taxes. Behind each clump of pines and willows, in each white farm house, with its carved red bars and silos, there were similar problems, but the same outlook. Not all blamed the government and the law for their own leaping ambition and bad judgment in buying too much land at too high prices, and then losing it. Much of the blame had to go to mother nature for four successive crop failures, grasshoppers, hail, etc.

Still Feels Land Hunger.

Farmer Cope looked upon broad acres from his hillside homestead, settled in the days of the pioneers, and which he still holds by the law's power. He yearned for more acres, a farm for each of his sons, a little independent principality of corn land with white faced cattle to drive into the Sioux City market. He had for this and lost.

Another farmer down the road had similar ambition, lost all he had and now is a renter.

"They treated me very well," he said. "I had to lose it. I guess I'll get along somehow."

Still another said that he had lost his farm, but he deserved to for he had used poor judgment in buying at the prices of the boom period. Those who have been able to maintain their original homes and have been good farmers, have been able to get along, although it has been getting harder and harder.

Others Doing Their Best.

Farmer Cope and his group say this is the last crop they will grow in, but others are paying no attention to the farmers holiday union program and are going to do the best they can. "I guess we'll get through somehow," is their philosophy. It is difficult to say what percentage of farmers support the radical group of direct actionists. There are various organizations in the county—the defense societies which forced agreements between the tenants and the retired landlord farmers in town; the 76ers, who forced deputy sheriffs at a farm sale to kiss the American flag; the holiday group.

"We can starve everybody out," is the slogan of those who would take no produce to market or permit others to do so. This group is to hold a convention in Des Moines next Wednesday. Five thousand are expected to attend that. It is under the leadership of Milo Reno, professional organizer.

There is quite a bit of sympathy

PROTESTING FARMER TELLS ABOUT PILING UP HIS INTEREST CHARGES

La Mars, Ia., April 30.—[Special.]—John A. Lemoinne, one of the protesting farmers, said he faced the loss of his 500 acre farm because he couldn't keep up the interest payments on a $39,000 indebtedness.

"I sold a 135 acre farm at $100 an acre in 1911 to buy this farm and paid $25,000 cash on it," he said. "If prices had continued good I could have paid off the mortgage without any trouble. Now I'm $500 behind on last fall payments on the mortgage. To pay off the amount due this spring I would have to sell all my cattle at poor prices, and then what would I have? We need this inflation, and we need it right away."

"Prices have gone down, why haven't interest and principal been scaled down on these debts? Why can't we get justice? Can you get justice in any county court in the state, at the state legislature, at Washington? When you answer those questions and tell me how we can get justice, I'll answer any question you want to ask."

"Every farmer," he added, "wants to pay his debts. But we've got to have better prices. The farmers are the backbone of the nation. If we go on a strike we could starve the nation. Give us some legislators who know and observe the Ten Commandments and we'll get justice."

have come near to smothering this little town, which radiates in all directions into the fields and the farms. The town merchants live by the farmer. The four banks are closed and chattel mortgages are not worth a cent in the present situation, because they cannot be enforced or collected upon.

Some time ago a banker reached an agreement with a farmer on the possession of a farm and sent his clerk out to put through the sale. The direct action group stopped the sale.

Banker Is Roughhoused. When the banker went out to see what the hitch was he was man-handled much as Judge Bradley was. He came back to town and said nothing about it.

When an agent for an insurance company was bidding in a farm on a foreclosure sale 800 farmers rushed the courthouse steps and overpowered Sheriff R. E. Rippey and Judge C. W. Pitts and took command of the law. They forced the insurance agent to bid full value of the farm. They compelled the judge to write to the governor urging immediate passage of anti-foreclosure laws. Then they got a key and took out a tractor and gave it back to the farmer who had owned it but lost it by foreclosure. Since that time the legislature has passed four emergency foreclosure relief acts designed to let owners of mortgaged real estate keep possession and at the same time preserve rights of the mortgage holders. This foreclosure moratorium has not worked to date, for the courts have disagreed as to its constitutionality and there has not been time to get a Supreme court decision.

CAP AND GOWN PARADE TO SEEK RELIEF FOR IDLE

New York, April 30.—[Special.]—A "cap and gown" trek to Washington to seek relief for the "white collar" jobless begins tomorrow.

From all parts of the country, delegations have answered the call of the Association of Unemployed College Alumni for a conference in the capital May 1 and 2 to seek relief legislation.

Joseph P. Lash, chairman of the association, said a group of jobless Harvard graduates would present the conference's final program to President Roosevelt, a Harvard alumnus.

SEE 36 STATES
VOTING REPEAL
BY TURN OF YEAR

Elections Either Scheduled or Near Decision.

Washington, D. C., April 30.—(AP)—
Voters of six states within the next two fortnights will register their views on repeal of the 18th amendment.
While in enough others legislatures are moving with a speed to cause anti-prohibitionists to halt the possibility that 36 states may act before the turn of the year.

Two states—Michigan and Wisconsin—have voted overwhelmingly to wipe the amendment from the constitution. Rhode Island, Wyoming,
New Jersey, Nevada, New York, and Delaware will cast their votes between now and May 27.

Rhode Island Votes Today.
Anti-prohibition leaders, headed by Joseph Shouse, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, have expressed confidence of carrying each of these states, while F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, points to the election of delegates in Indiana June 6 as the first real battleground where a "decisive fight" will be made.

The following dates have been set:
Rhode Island, tomorrow; Wyoming,
May 15; New Jersey, May 16; New York, May 23; Delaware, May 27;
Nevada, May 27; Illinois, June 8;
West Virginia, June 27; Alabama,
July 11; Arkansas, July 18; Tennessee,
July 20; Oregon, July 21; Washington,
Aug. 23; Vermont, Sept. 5; Maine,
Sept. 11; Maryland, Sept. 12; Minnesota, Sept. 12; New Mexico, Nov. 7, and Ohio, Nov. 7.

Bill Before Pinchot.
In Pennsylvania a bill providing for the election Nov. 7 is before Gov.
Pinchot, and in Texas legislation providing for an election Nov. 6 is in conference between the house and senate.

Both South Dakota and Nebraska have set elections for Nov. 6, 1934.
The legislatures of Georgia, Kansas, and North Dakota failed to act, and four states—Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Virginia—will have no sessions of the legislature until next year.

In Idaho, Montana, and Utah the governor has the option of setting the date in 1933 or 1934, and in North Carolina and Oklahoma the dates have been set tentatively for 1934.

JUDGE SABATH LIKES DOG YARNS

(Picture on back page.)
Ted Arnold, a trap drummer in the L'Audon cafe, 22 East Ontario street, hopes Judge Joseph Sabath of the Superior court likes dog stories, for he expects to tell him a novel one today.

Arnold is scheduled to appear before the judge on complaint of his former wife, Mrs. Gladys McMann, 5704 Lake street, that last week he did not pay to her the $20 which the court has ordered him to pay each week for the support of their 10 year old son, Garrett. This is the story that Arnold will tell the judge:

Receiving $50 pay Saturday night,
Arnold returned to his apartment at 444 St. James place, where he lives with his present wife. Household bills and rent were paid, and $20 was laid aside for the former wife. The money was placed on a table.

Yesterday morning the $20 had disappeared. Under the table, quietly smoking, lay King, a German police dog. At his head were two or three chewed up bits of green paper. Mrs.
Arnold had forgotten to feed King, and King had hungrily eaten a $20 bill, one $5 bill, and five $1 bills.

OVER CHILDREN

John and Joseph Maria, brothers, were shot last night, the former seriously, in a fight with their sister-in-law, Mrs. Josephine Annello, and their brother-in-law, Joseph Baio, in the Maria grocery at 2917 Lowe avenue.
Mrs. Annello, 34 years old, is being sought as the one who handled the gun. Her brother is also the object of search.

John, 40 years old, and Joseph, 36, married sisters, their wives being sisters of Mrs. Annello and Baio. John's wife died several months ago, leaving him with three small children. He placed the youngsters with their mother's family, but several days ago took them away to his own mother's.
Yesterday Mrs. Annello and her brother, Baio, protested this action. A fight resulted. Mrs. Annello, police were told, drew a gun and fired. One bullet struck John in the head, and another hit Joseph in the right arm.
Both were taken to the People's hospital.

Olive oil is nature's great beautifier

—and it's olive oil that makes Palmolive green

CLOPATRA knew the beauty value of olive and palm oils; so did other lovely women of her time. And from that day to this, nothing has taken the place of those priceless, natural oils for skin protection.

Palmolive Soap is the modern development of this age-old beauty formula. The only oils in Palmolive are the soothing beauty oils from the olive tree, the African palm, and the coconut palm—no other fats whatever. That accounts for Palmolive's natural green color. That accounts, too, for its gentle, mild, thorough cleansing.
Palmolive refreshes the skin and keeps it supple and smooth.

Now that Palmolive is selling at the lowest prices in history, give yourself the benefit of this finest of all beauty care for the bath, too.

Beauty cleansing as prescribed by experts
Do this morning and evening. Work a fine lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water gently but thoroughly into the skin of face, neck and throat. Rinse with warm water, followed by cold. Feel, with delight, the new beauty of your skin.

GIRL, 19, KILLED IN AUTO-TROLLEY CRASH; 3 INJURED

Second Victim of Cicero Accident May Die.

Miss Sally Sirus, 19 years old, of 739 West 43d street, was killed and another girl and two young men were injured when their automobile was driven head on into a street car at 45th street and 53d avenue, Cicero, last night. No one on the street car was hurt.

Others in the automobile were Anthony Marino, 40 years old, 1335 South Elmwood avenue, Berwyn; Miss Betty Stellan, 19, 1123 North Dearborn avenue, Evanston; and Nicholas Carson, 25, of 1803 South Grove avenue, Berwyn. Miss Sirus and Marino were in front, with the latter driving.

Marino received a skull fracture, Carson suffered internal injuries, and Miss Stellan had a leg broken. At the Berwyn hospital, where they were taken, it was said Marino might die.

Kills Driver of Horses.

John Bitzek, 45 years old, a farm hand, was killed and Frank Zbrozek, 15 years old, was seriously injured when an automobile struck them and their team of horses in Cicero avenue at 139th street, Crestwood, last night.

Bitzek, employed by the boy's father on a farm in the village, had been called to help pull a tourist's car out of the mud. As he drove the team in 139th street, followed by the boy, an automobile driven by Dr. G. S. Moore of 14750 44th avenue, Midlothian, crashed into the horses and then struck Bitzek. One of the horses fell on young Zbrozek.

These deaths increased the 1932 automobile toll in Cook county to 289.

Leon W. Fisk, 45 years old, 6442 North Seeley avenue, was killed and nine others injured yesterday in a head-on automobile collision in route 63, two miles north of Volo in Lake county. The left front tire of the auto Fisk was driving blew out and caused the car to swing into the path of a south bound automobile driven by Fred C. Davis, 51 years old, 5895 Patterson avenue.

Children Among Injured.

Riding with Fisk were his nephews, George Osterman, and his brother, Glenn, 2555 Sunnyside avenue. Both were cut and bruised. In the Davis car were Davis' wife, their two children, Clayton, 6 years old, and Patricia, 2; Davis' brother, E. G. Davis, and the latter's wife and their daughter, Jean, 2 years old. Mrs. E. G. Davis suffered a skull fracture and a broken shoulder blade. The others were slightly injured.

The injured were given first aid treatment in the Wauconda Emergency hospital by Dr. John A. Ross. They were later removed to Condit hospital at Libertyville.

Fred R. Daehn, 45 years old, 1429 Roscoe street, a shoe dealer, was killed yesterday when his automobile left the road in highway 41, 10 miles

JUDGES SEEKING RE-ELECTION

[Election June 5]

HUGO M. FRIEND

Judge Hugo M. Friend stood highest among the Republican Circuit judges in the Chicago Bar association primaries. He was born in Prague, Bohemia, 50 years ago and was brought to America at the age of 2. His family settled in Great Bend, Kas., but in 1899 moved to Chicago.

He was graduated from South Division High school in 1901, from the University of Chicago in 1905, and from the University of Chicago law school in 1908.

Judge Friend was a noted athlete. He was on the U. of C. track team for four years, being captain of the squad in 1905 when it won the western intercollegiate championship. He set a record for the running broad jump in the Western Intercollegiate conference in 1905 which stood for ten years, until 1915. It was more than 23 feet.

He was a member of the American team at the Olympic games at Athens, Greece, in 1904.

He was master in chancery from 1916 to 1920 by appointment of the late Judge Albert C. Barnes, and in 1920 he was appointed by Gov. Frank O. Lowden to fill the unexpired term of Judge Merritt W. Pinckney, deceased. He was reelected in 1921 and 1927. For two years he was head of the chancery division, and in 1930 he was appointed to the Appellate bench at the state Supreme court. He tried many celebrated cases, including the hearing of conspiracy charges against members of the White Sox.

Probably Judge Friend's most important case was that of Tate Trust, a suit against members of a former city administration for the return of experts' fees. He ruled in 1928 that Michael J. Faherty and others were guilty of breach of trust as officers of the city and he ordered restitution of $2,245,604 (later overturned by the Illinois Supreme court).

He is married, has four children and is active in various social and philanthropic organizations. The report of the Chicago Bar association issued Feb. 2, 1933, on the qualification of judges said of Judge Friend: "His judicial service has been of the highest quality. He merits the bar's commendation as an exceptionally qualified."

west of Racine, Wis., ran into a ditch and rolled upon a field. His son, Edward, suffered a broken leg. Daehn's wife and Fred J. Semb, 3244 Eastwood avenue, escaped injury. They were driving to Hartford, Wis.

Rouie Jimenez, 4 years old, 1535 Madison street, Gary, died in St. Antonio hospital at Gary yesterday of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile driven by B. A. Lucas, Gary attorney, at 15th and Madison streets, Saturday night. Lucas was charged with manslaughter and released on bond.

Automobile deaths for the first four months of 1933 showed a decrease of 19 in comparison with the same months last year, according to figures issued last night by Coroner Frank J. Walsh.

LONG TERRORISM CAMPAIGN BRINGS PLEA BY CLEANER

An inquiry into terrorism directed against the Peacock Cleaners and Dyers company, a chain of 38 north side cleaning shops, was asked yesterday by E. A. Fink, president. He said his stores and plants have been continually harassed by hoodlums. "I maintained an open shop for many years," he reported to the state's attorney's office. "A long series of window breakings, picketings by unionists, and the placing of explosives in clothing sent to us for cleaning forced me to unionize my plants. Since then I have had several minor disputes with union officials mainly over the union's demand that I pay my employees time and a half for Saturday work. Other plants do not pay this and I said I would not. Then came the bombing of my main plant on April 17—the plant at 4744 North Racine avenue—which practically ruined my business. Now I want action by the authorities."

BEAT AT LAST!
AGONY OF PILES!

Suffer no longer the torment of Piles! Walk, sit and sleep in comfort. Go to the stool without dread. For the relief of Piles has now been solved. Whether painful, itching, bleeding, blind or protruding Piles, the effective treatment is supplied in Pazo Ointment.

Pazo not only stops the pain and itching and makes defecation easy, but it tends to correct the condition of Piles as a whole. This is because Pazo is threefold in effect. It is (1) soothing, (2) healing, (3) absorbing. Thus, it not only allays the inflammation and repairs torn tissue, but actually reduces the swollen blood vessels, which are Piles. The method of application makes Pazo doubly effective. Special Pile Pipe attached to tube permits application high up in rectum so all parts are thoroughly medicated. Thousands say that Pazo is the first real relief they ever got from Piles. Thousands say it saved them the need of a painful operation. Try Pazo yourself and realize from one trial that your days of pile suffering are over. All drug stores sell Pazo.

MOSCOW 'PRIMPS' FOR ELABORATE MAY DAY SHOW

City Arrayed in Red; Marx, Lenin, Stalin on Display.

(Copyright, 1933, By the New York Times.)
MOSCOW, April 30.—Thousands of people strolled along the streets of Moscow tonight on the eve of one of the most elaborate May days in the history of the Soviet Union. For several days swarms of workmen have been busy throughout the city decorating the facades of buildings with banners, bunting and slogans in which flaming red predominates.

One of the most outstanding displays is in a theater square in the heart of Moscow. Powerful searchlights there throw their beams on gigantic red models of a mill and conveyor delivering tractors. Nearby, on the front of a new hotel now in construction, there are enormous photographs of Marx, Lenin and Stalin, fifty feet high.

Elsewhere the streets are lined with enlarged photographs of the "Best Udmurks," the Soviet's heroes of labor. Shop windows are decorated with caricatures of capitalists in top hats.

Delegations of foreign workers from the United States, England, France and other countries pack the hotels and walk curiously about the streets looking at what is to them their ultimate goal.

MADRID, April 30.—(AP)—Socialist demonstrations scheduled for May day have been canceled to prevent a clash with Syndicalists. It was announced tonight. The day will be observed throughout practically all Spain by the closing of shops and restaurants and an almost complete cessation of traffic. Only physicians will be allowed to use their automobiles. Authorities in strategic centers took precautions to prevent any sort of disorder. Telephone lines were cut in several places today, but repairs were quickly made.

Fire Tanks in Canary Isle Strike.

FIND BANDIT'S BODY AFTER SHOOTING IN DELICATESSEN HOLDUP

The body of William Hazelbauer, 25 years old, 341 West 42d street, was found at 75th street and Cornell avenue early yesterday. He had been shot twice. In the chest and abdomen. Later the body was identified in the county morgue as that of a bandit who had been shot in an attempt to rob a delicatessen at 630 South Halsted street shortly after midnight.

Two bandits entered the delicatessen wearing masks and carrying revolvers. Harry Ragnitt, 1243 West 74th place, a private watchman, who was sitting at a table, opened fire on them. One of them fell and was carried off by his companion, who fired two shots at Ragnitt.

Ragnitt failed to identify positively the body of Hazelbauer in the morgue. Joe Rubenstein, owner of the delicatessen, made the identification. Police said Hazelbauer was evidently thrown from the car by his companion when the latter discovered he was dead.

40 NEW YORK GANGSTERS FACE U. S. INDICTMENTS

New York, April 30.—[Special.]—After working quietly for nearly two years, Uncle Sam's income tax sleuths—the same persistent investigators who sent Al Capone to Atlanta—have amassed enough evidence against 40 of New York's most notorious racketeers, gangsters and thugs to seek federal grand jury indictments against them this week.

With Dutch Schultz and Waxey Gordon already fugitives from justice and the indictment of Big Bill Dwyer expected this week, among the other public enemies who face prosecution are:

Owney Madden, now in Sing Sing for parole violation; Salvatore (Salvy) Spillane and Irving Hitz, underworld emissaries in the Lindbergh kidnaping case, and Ciro Terranova, Harlem artichoke king.

CHILD WITH $130 THAWS YONKERS FROZEN ASSETS

Prosperity Shines Again for Short Time.

New York, April 30.—[Special].—Bertha Deshefy, 6 years old, did her bit today and yesterday to start the wheels of industry moving by a personal campaign of currency inflation and spending.

In four short hours the little girl placed more than a hundred dollars in circulation among the toy and candy vendors of her neighborhood. Miss Deshefy lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Deshefy, in Yonkers. Yesterday afternoon she discovered a roll of notes containing $130 which her father had tucked away in his home for safe keeping.

Bertha Takes Friends, Too. Bertha started out promptly to flout the frozen assets with the cooperation of neighborhood storekeepers and some of her friends. Accompanied by her particular chum, Helen Semende, and a gradually increasing retinue, she purchased gum and candy to satiation. Then, after the party had been well organized, its members took a whirl at various slot machines in order to win prizes, toys, jewelry, and the like.

Police Make Value Test. This morning she still had some left and started out again, but when she presented a note to David Astor who keeps a store a few blocks from the Deshefys, he asked questions. Bertha frankly told him where the money came from and showed him some more—a total of $30—all that was left of the $130.

Astor notified the police who returned the $30 to her father and then set out on a general roundup to find whether the 6-year-old had received anything like full value for her money. She hadn't.

Five Greek Priests Turn 'Bolshevik' on Holy Synod

ISTANBUL, Turkey, April 30.—(AP)—What authorities called a burst of bolshevism shattered the ancient calm of the patriarchate situated on the golden horn today. Five Greek priests broke into a meeting of the holy synod, consisting of the patriarch Photius and archbishops, and demanded that the priests be allowed the right to attend the synod. The patriarch condemned one priest to a year's imprisonment. Another was unfrocked, and three were forgiven.

'LIBERTY DRIVE' TO PAY TEACHERS TO START TODAY

3 Million in Warrants Sold to Be Resolicited.

While city employees are receiving their second month's pay today as a result of the tax warrant sales efforts of the Dewey committee, Attorney Henry P. Chandler, head of the "Liberty loan" drive to sell school tax warrants, will begin his efforts to sell an initial lot of those warrants to pay school employees for last September. The committee headed by Charles S. Dewey obtained approximately $3,000,000 in subscriptions to school tax warrants before it ceased its efforts on behalf of the schools and turned that job over to the Chandler committee. Due to changes in the plan under which the school warrants are now being sold, it will be necessary to resolicit all those subscribers. Mr. Chandler was hopeful yesterday, however, that these previous subscriptions may be ratified and redeemed by Friday.

Buy Warrants to Pay Taxes.
He pointed out that virtually all the subscriptions obtained by the Dewey committee for school tax warrants were from taxpayers who intend to apply them on their 1932 tax bills. The fact that warrants are now to be issued in denominations as low as $20 or $25, whereas a former limit of $1,000 was set, will not affect these large subscribers. "Our organization," said Mr. Chandler, "will continue its efforts to sell school tax warrants not only to persons who wish to use them for tax payments, but also for investment purposes. While the issuance of small denomination warrants means that a higher percentage of them will be used to pay taxes, the fact that the total warrant issue to the public will not exceed 50 per cent of the tax levy will assure those who buy warrants for investment that enough cash will come in from tax collections to redeem their securities promptly. "Payment of the first installment of 1931 taxes, made under what was probably the most discouraging circumstances in history, exceeded this percentage at the penalty date. Operations under the Starna act to discourage tax dodging will be a further assurance of security to investment purchasers."

Continue City and County Drive.

The Dewey committee was formed early in the year as a subdivision of the citizens' committee on public expenditures, to aid in meeting overdue pay rolls of the city, schools, and county government. It has sold, in addition to the $3,000,000 in school warrants, around $8,000,000 of city warrants and $370,000 worth of county warrants. The committee is continuing its efforts on behalf of the city and county.

The city government, largely because of the economies instituted by the late Mayor Cermak, which were not followed by the school board until the trustees appointed by a former Republican mayor lost their voting control nearly a year later, has benefited most by the warrant sales. The city and school board obtain virtually an even share of the tax dollar, but investors bought nearly $5,000,000 more of city warrants. This gave funds enough to meet city pay rolls for November and December, and with other warrant purchases will make it possible to pay city employees for the first half of January, probably late this week, City Controller Asymak said yesterday. The Dewey committee had its city warrant subscriptions confirmed before turning them over to city officials. To date $4,443,000 worth of the warrants have been taken up by the subscribers and the remainder are expected to be paid for this week. The county gave its employees one month's pay from the sale of its warrants.

POLICE HUNTING MISSING DENVER SOCIETY WOMAN

Denver, Colo., April 30.—(AP)—Disappearance of Mrs. William E. Fisher, prominent Denver society matron, was veiled in mystery tonight. Slight in stature and ill recently, she dropped from sight at her home here Saturday night while members of her family, entertaining friends, believed she was watching over her 6 month old granddaughter.

O'CONNOR DUE TO BE APPOINTED AS CURRENCY CHIEF

New York, April 30.—(Special.)—Some important appointments by President Roosevelt are expected this week, according to information received here today from Washington. Among them are J. F. T. O'Connor of California, law partner of Senator William G. McAdoo, for controller of the currency; Guy T. Helvering of Kansas, for commissioner of internal revenue; and Harry Miller of Montana, and Mrs. Benton McMilla of Tennessee, for members of the civil service commission.

The nomination of Mr. O'Connor for controller of the currency has been expected for several weeks. Mr. Helvering is the chairman of the Kansas Democratic state committee. It is understood that C. L. Shuping of North Carolina, who was a candidate for commissioner, will be appointed deputy commissioner. Confirmation by the senate of Mr. Helvering's nomination will clear the way for the appointment of Democratic collectors of internal revenue throughout the country.

Here they come, Chicago!

Are You Ready?

ON JUNE FIRST the Century of Progress will open . . . and the world will start moving toward Chicago! For months, railroads and other transportation lines have been featuring low-cost fares to the Exposition. Roads leading into the city have been clearly marked for 75 miles out. It's so easy to come . . . and there's so much to come for . . . that millions upon millions will be attracted . . . among them relatives and friends of yours.

Prepare for the Century of Progress

You will want your home to have every comfort for your guests. It's a good time to install some modern gas appliances. One of the new gas ranges will make a wonderful difference in your kitchen . . . will make food preparation easier . . . will help you prepare unforgettable meals.

Choose a new gas range now . . . with automatic controls . . . with ingenious gas-saving improvements . . . with insulated ovens for kitchen comfort. Choose a gas refrigerator, too. Not only will it save foods, but it will provide cool treats for your summer guests. And install an automatic gas water heater. It will supply abundant hot water for your own needs and those of your visitors.

But don't limit your preparations to gas appliances alone. Check over the things that need to be done around your home, yard, car, store, office, shop . . . cleaning, repairing, remodeling, refurbishing. The Century of Progress opens June first . . . there is little time left. Buy needed equipment now . . . employ workmen. Help bring better times to Chicago!

Other Chicago merchants, as well as ourselves, are displaying gas appliances that will help you prepare for the Century of Progress.

AIR RACE STARS TO GIVE 'CIRCUS' IN 50 U. S. CITIES

Circuit of Exhibitions Starts in South.

BY HUGH SEXTON.

A national circuit of air shows and air races to be held in fifty cities throughout the country this spring, summer and fall, both before and after the American air races was announced yesterday by Maj. R. W. Schroeder, director of events of the Chicago races. The air races will be staged July 1, 2, 3, and 4 at Chicago airport, under sponsorship of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

The circuit will open next Friday at Fort Worth, Tex., with a three day program of air racing and aerobatics, in which leading racing and stunt pilots will participate, he said. This spectacle will be held at Fort Worth Municipal airport under the sponsorship of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Profits will be devoted to the Star-Telegram's ice and milk fund.

The following week end, May 13 and 14, the circuit show will be held at Oklahoma City under the auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Bookings are being closed rapidly in other middle western cities for dates up to July 1, when the performers will come to Chicago for the American Air races with the many other star racing and aerobatic pilots who will be here to participate in that event, the outstanding aviation spectacle of the year.

Twenty Events a Day. "Our new deal," announced for the American Air races here in July, will be typified in the Fort Worth spectacle this coming week end," Maj. Schroeder declared. "On each of the three days of that meet, the citizens of Fort Worth will see the best performances available in the United States. There will be twenty stellar events each day.

"The Fort Worth Star-Telegram has announced three trophy events for southwestern pilots in addition to an aerobatic contest, a women's aviation trophy race, and a trophy race for men pilots. Among the performers will be Art Davis, former army ace and a leading racing pilot Johnny Livingston, who has won $56,240 in air races, and Art Killips, holder of the Niagara Falls International trophy for aerobatics.

Bettie Lund, world's premier woman stunt flyer, has recuperated from injuries she suffered recently in a crash and will participate. Army planes from Fort Crockett will be at the Fort Worth races. An autogiro is being sent by the Pilsbain Aircraft company, to be stunted by an ace "windmill" pilot. A large transport plane will be put through starting maneuvers by another outstanding pilot. Clem Sohn and Bill Wagner will do 10,000 foot delayed opening parachute jumps. Bob Moore will stunt a pusher type plane.

Millions to See Stunts. "These performers will be seen in a variety of thrilling stunts, including a formation stunting exhibition, an aerial dog fight, balloon bursting, aerobatic dead stick landings, inverted flight, speed dashes, 5,000 foot tall several new stunts. The show is a complete entertainment unit. It will bring the spectacular aspects of big air racing events to several millions this year, in addition to the Chicagoans who are to witness the year's outstanding air spectacle in July."

This circuit of air shows is being staged under the management of the American Air Race Association, Inc., of which he is president, Maj. Schroeder said. In each city the show will have a local sponsor, and the profits will be given to charity. Officers of the association include Winor B. Williams, vice president, former general manager of the American Air Transport Association, Inc.; John B. Story, vice president, former president of Western Air Shows, which operated a circuit of 22 shows last summer; Frank A. McKay, secretary, and Howard Wilkoff, treasurer, an attorney and member of the aviation committee of the American Bar Association.

The association is prepared to conduct an annual circuit of air racing, Maj. Schroeder said, and bookings for next summer are being allotted already.

CHANGE TESTS FOR LICENSING PLANE PILOTS

The new qualifications for the private pilot license issued by the aeronautics branch of the department of commerce have been readjusted and will make it unnecessary for those pilots to execute intentional spins and recoveries, according to an announcement of Col. Clarence M. Teague, assistant secretary of commerce for aviation.

This change will affect the 10,122 holders of private pilot licenses in the country, a class comprising more than half of the total of 19,457 holders of airplane pilot licenses. In Illinois it will affect 639 private pilots. There are a total of 1,134 pilot licenses issued to residents of the state, which is the third largest number of airplane pilots in the nation.

More exacting requirements for the rating of private pilots were announced by the department of commerce recently, to go into effect on June 1. The requirements include 50 hours of solo flying instead of the former 10 hours, and more difficult flight tests, which are the equivalent of tests given to pilots who receive the limited commercial rating. Instead of the test for intentional spins and recoveries, Col. Young has announced that a test will be given for recoveries from stalls and the prevention of spins from stalled attitudes. The change in the requirements was made, he said, because of the inherently stable qualities of modern aircraft. All pilots who have held licenses of a higher grade than private will be issued the new private licenses without examination, he added.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

WILL A FIGHT PEOPLE FIGHT?

Senator Carter Glass, Virginia Democrat, found himself unable to complete his argument against the finance bills which will transfer the constitutional power of congress to control the currency to the President. His feelings compelled him to say, "I find that I must desert." Even Senator Borah, radical Republican of Idaho, has an ingrained sense of what the constitution has meant in the history of the American people and he also recoils from the picture of the future as it takes shape from the acts of the present. There is growing among sober-minded men in congress, a minority it is true, but the core of the intelligence of that assembly, regardless of party, an alarm without bounds.

The briefest review of the legislation enacted or proposed with every confidence that it will be enacted shows how very real the dangers are which cause this alarm. There will be nothing left of the American constitution and the system of republican government founded by it unless the conservative men in congress, few as they are, are strengthened by the expressed determination of the people of the United States, organized everywhere for this purpose, not to have their constitutional government completely suspended by acts of the national legislature violating every elemental principle in the fundamental law of the United States.

Unless this support comes at once, with a spontaneity and a fervor which compel respect, the days of the American people under a constitutional republic may be numbered.

This is the wish of radicals, both collegiate and otherwise numskull, who are using a great national distress to force a revolution by unconstitutional and illegal acts of congress. Already it has been declared a crime for a citizen to possess property in the form in which the United States guarantees its national currency. That is gold. In spite of the protests of the almost stupefied minority, the senate has passed an act providing that the currency shall be not what congress determines but what the President may decide at any time.

The United States is preparing to fix prices on agricultural products, not even by specific acts of congress but by the order of the secretary of agriculture. It is proposed, and at present there is no guaranty that it will not be done, that the secretary of labor shall stipulate wage scales, hours of labor, and conditions of contracts. These are only various high spots in the program which threatens to destroy the whole American system of property rights, individual liberty, the whole conception of law, the limitations of government, the constitution, and the nation itself. This will be done unless the bulk of the American people, who have never given the slightest countenance to such a revolution, interpose their determined will between a flabbergasted congress now rapidly approaching an insanity of hysteria and the revolutionary groups, whether of college professors, of communist cells, or of hill billy demagogues who are tearing the laws of the land to pieces and destroying the liberties of the country.

It may be that President Roosevelt will recognize, or soon will, that unless Washington hears from the rest of the country there will be nothing remaining of American government as a government of a free people, guaranteeing liberties and rights and proceeding by ordered legal process. Quite evidently the majority of Americans must be organized quickly from coast to coast. They have been stunned by the rapidity of the revolutionary movement and they have been almost inarticulate to the present moment. They are bewildered and confused and the voices of protest and alarm which arise from them have not reached Capitol Hill. There are men in that body of legislators who would stand up and fight if they received any encouragement. Although they also have been stunned and virtually swept off their feet, they have endeavored, as yet lamely, to stop the destruction of the American form of government before the revolutionaries have accomplished their full purpose. It will be Thermopylae for them if the country does not rush to their support.

The American people have seen country after country in Europe undergo within brief periods of time some of the most amazing overturns of social order and government system that the world has ever seen. They have observed not only the post-war democracies crack up and perish but they have seen old established parliamentary systems crash to their ruin. They have seen liberties which prevailed even under monarchy die under compulsion. Russia is not the only country in which everything Americans have been taught to regard as desirable, essential and sacred has been crushed under government. Nearly all of Europe presents a spectacle of lost liberties and lost aspirations.

All this time the people of the United States have confidently assured themselves that this could not happen to them because they were bulwarked behind a system of constitution and laws which ambitious men must respect and which would be defended by the people themselves to their last gasp. How much of this spirit can be relied upon? To what extent are the revolutionaries justified in their apparent belief that the country is too dazed to raise its hand in defense of its proved government, its laws, and its liberties? The future will very soon tell, because the revolutionaries are moving rapidly. The checks have been thrown away and if the people are to defend their rights they must arise in their defense quickly.

ENTANGLED IN EUROPEAN DIPLOMACY.

President Roosevelt has "consented to the inclusion of the United States in a consultative pact to implement the Kellogg anti-war treaty."

This revolutionary change in American foreign policy has been adopted, it seems, with the objective of bringing the French and British into agreement with the United States on disarmament and currency management.

The phrase "consultative pact" is a euphemism. It seems to mean nothing more than that the United States, when war in Europe is threatened, will join with the European powers in a consultation regarding what is to be done to keep the peace. That looks harmless enough. Consultation in that sense is, in fact, a routine of diplomacy. When war threatens it is expected that the powers not immediately concerned will use what are called their good offices in mediation.

It may be taken for granted that if that were all the United States is now asked to pledge itself to do the offer would be worth nothing for purposes of bargaining with England and France. They do not want good offices. They want understandings such as existed, for example, between England and France in 1914.

A lot of people in England in the spring of 1914 thought that Britain's understanding with France called for nothing more than consultations. The English public did not realize that French and British military and naval experts had committed their countries to joint action and that British and French diplomats had complete understandings regarding the scope of their joint responsibilities in a European war. There were momentary doubts about English participation toward the end of July, 1914, but the commitments had gone too far to be repudiated. England awoke to find herself at war.

It will be said that the pact now proposed cannot lead to a similar result, but what little can be learned of the detailed proposals for consultation is not reassuring. If a war is started in Europe the United States is to determine which country is the aggressor and thereupon disclaim any neutral rights to trade with the country found guilty.

The probability is that the next war will be the logical consequence of the treaty of Versailles. Some group of nations sooner or later will attempt to kick over the terms imposed upon the vanquished. When that war is declared, who is the aggressor? Is it the nation which imposed the unfavorable terms or is it the nation which seeks to regain its former position? That is the question which the United States will be called upon to answer.

The American people may think they can accept the scheme without being entangled by it and committed by it to armed action in the future, but the chances are overwhelmingly against avoiding the next major war if the pact is entered upon. When our government itself has formally declared a combatant nation the aggressor, what excuse can we have for refraining from participation in the punishment of the wrongdoers? If it is altogether certain that in such a war France will be our ally, will not our army and navy lay plans at once for cooperation with France? And will not those plans, of themselves, involve us still more deeply in European intrigue?

Editorial of the Day

SHACKLES FOR INDUSTRY.
[Washington Post.]

Secretary Perkins' bill for the regulation of wages, hours of labor and industrial production goes so far beyond the bounds of reason, practicability and constitutionality that it can be discussed only from the academic viewpoint. No doubt it is merely intended as a warning to industry with a view to encouraging voluntary adoption of shorter hours, equitable wages and stable production.

The bill proposes the most sweeping grant of power over private industry that has ever been offered for consideration of congress by a cabinet member. It would make Secretary Perkins a czar over industry just as the farm relief bill would make Secretary Wallace a czar over agriculture. Three remarkable provisions would put virtually every factory in the country under the thumb of federal bureaucracy. No commodity or article manufactured by an establishment permitting workmen to labor more than 30 hours per week could be shipped in interstate commerce; provided that in cases of "extraordinary need" an "hours of work board" could grant permission for employees to work for 40 hours per week for an aggregate of not more than 10 weeks in any one year.

The bill then sweeps on to regulation of industrial output. If the secretary of labor should find that any plant or enterprise is "disturbing or preventing a fair balance of production in the industry involved and is bringing about overproduction or unfair competition in interstate commerce by reason of excessively long periods of operation, and thereby causing extraordinary hardship to other plants or enterprises in said industry, with consequent substantial injury to the general welfare," then the secretary of labor "shall be authorized to specify a limitation that should be imposed upon the total hours of operation of said plants so as to bring about a more equitable adjustment of production within said industry."

In other words, if any one concern should show too much enterprise and begin to take business away from its inefficient competitors Miss Perkins could step in and apply an industrial allotment plan. The third provision would authorize the secretary of labor to set up wage boards to determine what the wages in a given industry should be. Such boards might be put to work whenever the secretary might find that employees in any industry were not receiving wages "fairly and reasonably commensurate with the value of the services rendered or sufficient for the maintenance of a reasonable standard of living." The formula on which these boards would be selected is peculiarly Perkinsian. There would be only three members. One would be a direct representative of organized labor, another would be a direct representative of the secretary of labor, and the third would theoretically represent the employers. But this member would be selected by the secretaries of labor and commerce acting jointly. That would make two and a half representatives for labor and one-half for industry.

This entire measure is a product of hysteria. The idea of putting industry and labor under the domination of a bureaucratic czar in Washington is revolting to employees and employers alike. It is impossible to believe that this wild dream outlined by Miss Perkins is really a part of the administration's program of economic recovery.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

MAY: Spring now without a doubt. Likewise daylight saving, moving day, spring plowing, apple blossoms, columbines and wild geraniums all over the place, with here and there a Queen of the May. May is the month of promises; no matter how the rest of the year turns out, in May we're all sure that from then on up to Christmas everything is going to be jake. The flowers bloom, the fruit trees blossom, the birds sing, there's a blue sky overhead and a soft, warm breeze from the south. In May we're ready to believe in anything. We're all hitched up and a rarin' to go.

TODAY'S CHALLENGE TO CHRISTENDOM.

To keep for the man who is heartick
From countless miles he has trod
Seeking for work and all in vain—
His faith in a kindly God!

To keep for the man who is desperate
The faith of his fathers in One Loving and merciful unto all
And mindful of every son!

Never by Scripture or Science
Shall his faith in a God above
Be kept unless there be added
The proof of our human love;

Love that has conquered indifference
And dominance and greed;
Love that is more than compassion
And stronger than any creed.

ABELADE LOVE.

MONEY TALKS, but it used to be that money was just money, and we could understand it quite clearly when it spoke. But now if we are going to have fiat money and inflated money and new currency and silver money and gold money that has been given a kick in the pants and it all starts shouting at once, who is going to know what is said when money talks?

THE DUKE WANTS TO BUY A NEW CAR.

Dick: Instead of the government keeping a bureau which finds out why female alligators make better satchels than the male and spending our bucks telling us of the love life of a frog, they should spend the dough advising husbands how to change into widowers in the cheapest way possible. In the first place nobody should pay any attention to the trope until they pay us that 19 million berries that they owe us. All this is not irrelevant (them's a word) to what I'm driving at, cause if any guy is entitled to widowers weeds it me. Tha B. and C. is driving me nuts cause I aint bought a new car yet. Before she proposed marriage her lucky days was the ones when her ole man cood spare car fare so's she woudn't hafta to hitch to work. It isnt as if I aint been trying my damndest to buy a bus cause I've been to 35 finance companies and I happen to know where I can get a 1927 Plus-Four originally $5000 for $135, if only one of the 35 guys woud of said yes. I think they call it a plus 4 cause its plus interest, insurance, commission and sales tax. Ennyway I got myself to blame a helova lot, I pull a prize boner when I gives the Lake Shore Meat Market as reference. I might have known that Gallert guy's lack of education woud ruin me. Tha reference blank was very simply written, only 4 things to answer, the 1st was "How long have you known Mr. Bakrak?" and he answers one year too long. Next, where it asks "How much does he owe you at present?" he puts down "Why rub it in?" Tha 3rd question asks whether he considers me a good risk, all he has to say is yes or no and the dumb chuck writes, "Dont we all make mistakes?" Tha last line reads, "To your knowledge, is he a heavy drinker?" and he replies "I shoold judge about 160 to 165 lbs." Believe me when the chain stores start giving credit this hog slicer can go plumb to hell. I dont think tha Mama woud get so riled over not having a car if those pure dear sweet girl frens of hers woud pull in their necks. Such pleasant battle dont help matters much. I overheard a few that went something like this, Norman and I woud of stayed a month longer in Miami but tha firm coodn't spare him any longer. Benny and me are driving to Xcelisor Springs for a few weeks. Milton wrote a 1/4 million insurance last week and tha firm is presenting him with a 12 cylinder town car. Solly trades in his car every year about this time. If that tribe of Ubanias all the cause of tha Mama's going off her nut I'm a skunks grand-mother! If any of youse bank presidents cant afford to run your car any longer I wud be paper-hanging, wood-chopping, or cock-roach exterminating in exchange.

Duke Bakrak.

P. S.—Must be some gas in tha tank.

SONNET LIV.

I watch the cruel strength of him go under Who seeks to tear the body from the breath, and his wild voice, like sudden summer thunder, no more can run me through with cries of death.
He is no more to be feared than blossoms falling from branch to ground, than winds that whine for power, he is no more to be feared, now his dark voice calling beside the minute stolen from the hour.
I say it again: the strength of him is little;
and clear my voice and slow my words and soft since I have learned his noisy lash is brittle, have found beneath my heel what leered aloft.
(Oh, keep your courage, heart, and do not hearken to threats that waver, nor to skies that darken.)

JEANNE DELAMARTER.

SEN. BORAH SAYS if he had five thousand dollars in gold he would hoard it if he wanted to and defy the government to come and get it. Oh, everybody defies the government now and then, but we never heard yet of anybody defying the income tax and getting away with it.

How to Keep Well By Dr. W.A. Evans

SUMMER DIARRHEA IN BABIES.

As the warm season progresses there will be an increasing number of babies who develop acute attacks of vomiting and diarrhea. This disorder is not entirely dependent on season, climate, or weather, since some cases occur in February as well as in all other months. However, summer heat increases the danger greatly.

The time was when summer was the period of maximum danger to the baby, and the diarrhea were the principal source of danger. Conditions are so much better now that the tendency is to regard the danger as a thing of the past. This is not justified.

There are still many places where the milk is poor, and for that and other reasons, where diarrhea are major dangers. When a baby develops diarrhea and vomiting medical service is necessary. The woman who tries to carry her baby through such perilous waters is quite apt to meet with disaster. However, there are certain things that she must do on her own responsibility, and she can better carry out her physician's directions if she knows the reasons for certain symptoms, what those symptoms signify, the reasons for certain treatment, and how treatment is to be carried out.

The probability is that the baby is in trouble because of something that has been eaten. Therefore, all food should be stopped at once. There is no need of waiting for a physician to do that. The baby will not want to eat and efforts to persuade him to do so harm than good. Certainly no food should be given for six hours, and in most cases the starvation interval should be twelve hours.

The food given at the onset of the attack should be assumed to have been the cause of the trouble. Its use should not be resumed for several days, if at all. The baby needs water but he does not need food. An effort to give water should be persisted in with intelligence and ingenuity. If the child is vomiting it is worse than useless to give water by mouth. Rectal injections of mild salt solutions should be given. When the physician arrives he will want to give salt solution into the peritoneum, into a vein, or under the skin. Of these methods, the intraperitoneal method is best but it is difficult to do. The same objection applies to injection into a vein. Injection under the skin is simplest but it is also less effective.

The physician will wash out the stomach. This is a very helpful procedure—in fact, almost a necessary one. In many cases this will stop the vomiting, and after that water can be taken by mouth. If so, it should be given the baby in small drinks at intervals of one-half hour.

The physician, after washing the stomach, may inject into it about two ounces of a suspension of kaolin, 1 part, and water, 2 parts. This is the best remedy to stop diarrhea, and so long as that symptom continues giving food is hazardous.

The best food to begin with is lacteal acid skim milk, or lacteal acid skim milk powder. In cases that are doing well, some of sugar can be added to the milk powder on the second day, and some source of vitamins, such as vegetable extracts or carotin, on the third day.

It is not wise to hurry the food taking program.

STAMMERING.

A. J. K. writes: Is stammering and stuttering a hopeless affliction or is it curable? I have done this ever since I learned to speak. I am now 19.

Speech defects can be cured when the sufferer is normal mentally and is willing to devote the time and energy to training and persistence, patience and poise. A habit that has been tolerated for so many years is not easily changed, but it can be done.

SIDEWALK DISPLAYS.
Chicago, April 28.—[Friend of the People.]—My family has owned property in Hyde Park for a number of years. This district has always been able to boast of the condition of its streets. I call your attention to a store on 53d street. One store has a display of its wares on the sidewalk which looks like a municipal park. In addition they throw boxes and papers in the space between their stands and the street as though it were a dump. Can't something be done about this?

Report is made that notice was served on the owner of store complained of to comply with the provisions of the ordinance requiring the display of merchandise on sidewalks. Failing to comply with notice, he was cited into court, but the case was dismissed with the understanding there would be no further violations. However, he has been served with another notice and if conditions are not changed will be cited in court again and no doubt on this occasion will not be treated so leniently.

BOND ISSUES.

Chicago, April 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is it possible for the owner of an apartment building to cancel his action in the bank for bonds on his building but not signed by him? 2. Can accounts of other individuals (not the owner) be used for purposes named above if account is transferred or signed over to owner of apartment building? 3. In case these methods are impossible will it be possible to have any or more than one account signed over to the person that has signed the bonds and in this way receive the bonds? 4. If all methods shown are not possible, will you please outline any possible plan of receiving the bonds at less than face value?

GUARDIAN.

Chicago, April 27.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—How could I find out who my administrator is? On April 17, 1917, my mother died and after all expenses were paid there was a balance of $30 left me. I was a minor and [2] they told me my administrator would give me the $30 when I was 21 years old. My insurance company has no records over ten years.

1. We assume that you mean that you wish to find out who your guardian is.
2. Presumably a guardian was appointed by the court. If you have no data as to the guardianship proceedings, we suggest that as a first step you examine the record of the probate of your mother's estate.

40 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 1, 1933.
CHICAGO—As President Cleveland finishes his address at noon today and declares the great World's Columbian Exposition of 1933 duly opened, he will touch an electric key which will start the Allis engine in Machinery Hall, the world's largest pump in the pumping station, and the three fountains which it supplies in front of the Administration building.

THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE of yesterday was as choice as gold in a financial panic and as scarce as sunshine today this spring. It was the Columbian souvenir edition issued on the eve of the opening of the great exposition, and the person that has one can count himself among the favored inhabitants of the earth. In several places big silver dollars failed to bring forth the desired 45 pages and art supplement, and many suburban residents made trips downtown for extra copies, only to find them all sold and not to be had at any price.

Midway piasance, paradise of the fakers and home of the unscrupulous and otherwise representatives of the nations of the earth, took on added form and color yesterday through the work of a thousand laborers and the spreading to the breezes from Lake Michigan of stinging banners and flags. The Cairo contingent, which paid its visit to the "khedive" of the United States, Effendi Grover Cleveland, were objects of especial interest to their countrymen.

The little Japanese were putting the finishing touches to their village and repairing some of the breaks made in their split bamboo fence by inquisitive Americans. The little Japanese dancing girls were there during the afternoon, limbering their toes on the smooth floor.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 1, 1917.

WASHINGTON.—Federal investigation of the strike of bakers and drivers in Chicago was decided upon yesterday and two moves were quickly made. Secretary Wilson of the department of labor took up the strike and last night it was announced that Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor had left Washington for Chicago. It was said to be his purpose to back up the pledge made by the labor committee of the advisory commission of the council of national defense that there shall be no industrial strike during the war.

LONDON.—The American tank ship Vacuum, owned by the Vacuum Oil company, was sunk last Thursday, April 26, in the Atlantic. A lieutenant and nine gunners of the United States navy are missing and are believed to have been lost, along with the ship's master and nineteen of the crew. It is thought the small boat bearing these men capsized in the heavy seas. Another boat, containing three naval gunners and seventeen of the crew and the chief mate of the INFLATION.

Chicago, April 28.—The American people at last are confronted by the "new deal gold dollar," a Democratic party product, as shown by the voice in the United States senate: "4. Democrats added by 8 soviet Republicans. Eleven Democratic senators stood solid with the Republican minority."

When the voters of the northern industrial states wake up to what the southern Democrats have done to northern industries they will understand what the inflation ballyhoo really means to their pocketbooks, with Democratic party money worth so much in trade one day and something else the next day. How can the northern industries manufacture and produce goods on such a fluctuating basis?

The north is on the way down to the poncake and cotton field levels and a dollar a day wage scale.

The north will be looted by dishonest dollar methods of its cash reserve represented by savings accounts, bank accounts, life insurance and many other forms of investments. C. H. RAYVELL.

SALES TAX TONKES.

Chicago, April 28.—In Mattson, Ill., the chamber of commerce has issued tax tonkes in denominations of 1/4 cent. These tokens can be used in any store in that city for the purpose of paying the sales tax. If you make a 5 cent purchase you pay 1/4 cent tax, not 1 cent or 20 per cent, as in some Chicago stores. If you make a 10 cent purchase you pay 1/2 cent, not 1 cent or 10 per cent, as in almost all Chicago stores. The same system is used in Kankakee and I assume, in other downstate cities.

Are we to assume that Chicago's Chamber of Commerce is entirely without any desire to see that the purchasing public is treated fairly? That the Chicago Chamber of Commerce is entirely without the initiative shown by downstate cities? That the Chamber of Commerce is controlled by retailers who short-sightedly can't control their desire for more profits?

TEACHERS ON PARADE.

Chicago, April 25.—Every one of the teachers who participated in the recent parading should be gracefully retired from the teaching staff. It affords a fine opportunity for the city of Chicago to rid itself of the everlasting trouble makers who have found fault with every administration for the last hundred years. There are more than enough teachers on the waiting list who would gladly take the places of the expelled teachers and at half the pay, and be every bit as qualified as some of those half-wits going down an avenue waving a flag and yelling insulting remarks and interrupting the gentlemen who were actually endeavoring to help them. The idea of dis-continuing school immediately, and not opening until October is a splendid idea. When one can't afford a certain thing, the best thing to do is to get along without it, and it holds good in this case as well as any other.

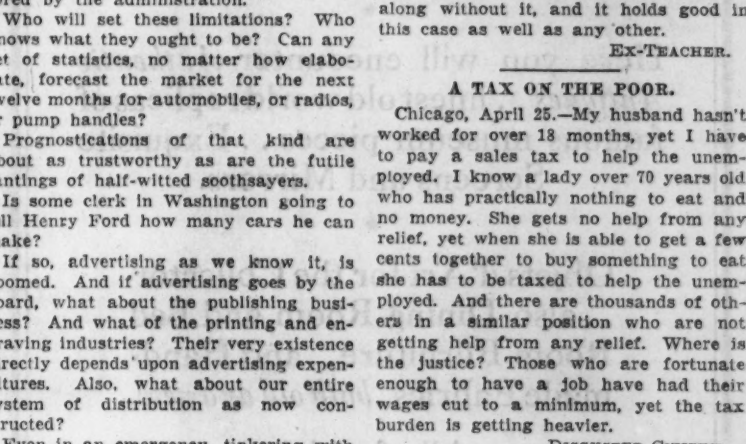

A TAX ON THE POOL.

Chicago, April 25.—My husband hasn't worked for over 18 months, yet I have to pay a sales tax to help the unemployed. I know a lady over 70 years old who has practically nothing to eat and no money. She gets no help from any relief, yet when she is able to get a few cents together to buy something to eat she has to be taxed to help the unemployed. And there are thousands of others in a similar position who are not getting help from any relief. Where is the justice? Those who are fortunate enough to have a job have had their wages cut to a minimum, yet the tax burden is getting heavier.

standing event in a general plan of participation of the regular army of the Sixth corps area in the Century of Progress, Gen. Parker said.

A model camp for the soldiers is being erected on the lake front in the fair grounds near the foot of 28th street. It will be occupied on May 15 and will be open for inspection daily during the fair. A battalion of infantry, a troop of cavalry, the band of the Sixth Infantry at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., and the 3d Field Artillery at Fort Sheridan, a detachment of anti-aircraft artillery and a detachment of field artillery will form the fair unit, with Lieut. Col. Otto L. Brunell in command.

plans last night for a great military tournament to be held here in June as part of A Century of Progress exposition. All the arms of the United States army will be displayed in action, he said, in a rapid and moving panorama of military tactics and maneuvers.

The tournament will begin on the night of June 2 in Soldiers' field and will be held every night up to and including the night of June 10. The program of each night will consist of 100 minutes of stirring action staged by the regular army troops. The program will be climaxed by a realistic reproduction of the battle of Cantigny, the first major operation of American forces in France in 1918.

Roaring formations of fighting planes of the air corps will dive toward the stadium in simulation of aerial combat. Anti-aircraft artillery units will swing their searchlight beams through the night sky to pick out enemy raiding planes, and the guns will roar as the searchlights fix on their objective.

THEFTS RESULT IN BOOST IN AUTO INSURANCE RATES

Hope Seen in Certificate of Title Plan.

Automobiles stolen, 100; recovered, 71; stripped, 7 (from police records for the twenty-four hour period ending at midnight, Saturday).

Due to the operations of auto thieves in Chicago the 200 stock fire insurance companies writing auto theft policies here have just been compelled to boost their rates 25 to 100 per cent, depending on the make of car.

Lifting of the rates to a scale which is double or in some cases triple that in other cities of comparable size is the result of a condition which the underwriters foresaw many months ago when the auto thieves and strippers joined up with unscrupulous dealers in second hand cars and parts, according to J. W. Burden, superintendent of the Hartford Fire Insurance company, chairman of the joint committee of underwriters fighting the auto theft racket.

See Hope in Title Plan.

One hope for a curb on the auto thieves and their allies among the car dealers, according to Mr. Burden, lies in the so-called "certificate of title" bill, on which the state house and senate are to put finishing touches this week for signature by Gov. Hornor. The bill, attempting to surround automobile ownership with the same safeguards as real estate, would compel every car owner to carry a certificate of title, certified by the secretary of state, and re-certified each time the car changes hands.

If the measure proves effective a reduction of insurance rates commensurate with the degree of success will be gained, according to Mr. Burden. Registration provisions of the bill, however, do not go into force until next Jan. 1, when new license plates are issued.

Prices to Go Upward.

Mr. Burden quoted the new rates on three best selling makes of cars in the low priced, medium priced, higher priced, and luxury classes, for each $100 of insurance carried as follows:

LOW PRICED		HIGHER PRICED
Car A.....	$3.93	Car A.....	$4.18
Car B.....	9.73	Car B.....	4.48
Car C.....	7.94	Car C.....	8.68
MEDIUM PRICED		LUXURY
Car A.....	$5.00	Car A.....	$1.93
Car B.....	5.09	Car B.....	2.18
Car C.....	6.97	Car C.....	3.20

"As the tables indicate, the small car owner is paying the higher bill," Mr. Burden said. "There has been comparatively little increase on higher priced cars, most of which are kept in garages and many of which are driven by chauffeurs. It is the low priced cars that the thieves pick, these being easiest to strip for disposal of the parts."

Dealers Under Inspection.

One of the most formidable provisions in the new certificate of ownership bill, according to Henry Barrett, chamberlain of the Chicago Crime commission, one of the sponsors, is that placing dealers in used cars and accessories under the same police inspection as are pawn shops.

These dealers would be required to admit police at any time on demand, keep a record of daily purchases and sales, and be held responsible for identification of the seller with whom they deal. Records of sales and purchases would be collected nightly by police and the numbers of the cars or parts sold for reference by insurance companies in case of theft.

An ordinance along similar lines was enacted by the city council in 1931, according to Mr. Burden, but enforcement was neglected by the police until a few weeks ago.

PONTIFF BLESSES FOUNDER OF GOOD SHEPHERD ORDER

VATICAN CITY, April 30.—(AP)—Many cardinals and high prelates to gether with thousands of the faithful attended the beatification in St. Peter's this morning of venerable Mary Euphrasia Pelletier, founder of the Sisters of the Good Shepherd. This order has branches in 41 cities of the United States devoted to caring for and protecting young girls.

This afternoon Pope Pius went to St. Peter's with the cardinals to venerate the new blessed. He knelt for some minutes before a large portrait of the French religious worker and prayed. Then he assisted at benediction of the Blessed Sacrament and finally imparted the apostolic blessing. The beatification today placed the church's solemn approval on a life which had its stormy moments. Mary Pelletier, born in 1798 at Noirmoutier, France, joined the Order of Our Lady of Charity of the Refuge at the age of 18. Some years later she was superior at the house at Tours and founded the chapter of Angers. She then felt that the Angers chapter should be the mother house of the whole order and petitioned the pope to this effect. Instead a new order was sanctioned and became more numerous than her former order.

Mad Elephant Attacks Munich Zoo Head and Aid

MUNICH, Germany, April 30.—(AP)—A bull elephant that suddenly broke loose today in the Munich Zoological garden attacked the director of the zoo, Heinz Heck, and an attendant, tossing both into the air. Heck suffered concussion of the brain and two rib fractures, while the attendant was severely hurt about the head.

ILLINOIS DAIRY FARMERS HEAR MILK POOL CHIEF

Nearly 1,100 dairy farmers of McHenry county crowded the hall of St. Mary's academy at Woodstock yesterday to hear Walter Singler, president of the Wisconsin Milk Pool association, talk on national problems. Singler declared the time was ripe for a national organization of dairy farmers. He insisted farmers should be paid for their products on a cost production basis.

The Wisconsin milk pool chief also discussed the proposed national farmer strike which tentatively has been set for May 10 or 13. A conference of mid-west farm leaders on the strike will be held in Des Moines Wednesday and Thursday under the direction of Milo Reno, president of the National Farm Holiday association.

BANKER SUICIDE WHEN REOPENED BANK IS CLOSED

Rushville, Ind., April 30.—(Special.)—Jasper D. Case, 78 year old banker, committed suicide today at his home by shooting himself. He was vice president of the American National Bank of Rushville, which was opened as a class A bank without restrictions after the moratorium, and was closed a week ago yesterday. He was president of other small banks in the county.

Mr. Case was considered quite wealthy. He was a large land owner and a former lumber dealer. Recently it was said he was a heavy borrower at the American National bank of which Robert A. Innis is president. No reason was given for the closing of this bank. When it opened J. L. Sanders, national bank examiner, remained here at the bank and then without warning ordered it closed. The controller of the currency appointed John S. Russell of Greensburg, Ind., as receiver.

HUNT BANDITS WHO SHOT WIFE OF CICERO CHIEF

The county highway police were searching yesterday for the bandits who late Saturday night shot Mrs. Tillie Raleigh, wife of City Commissioner John Raleigh of Cicero, and also wounded John O'Brien, chauffeur for the Raleighs. Mrs. Raleigh's wrist was broken by a bullet which first hit O'Brien's wrist watch and then struck her. O'Brien's wound was only a scratch.

The shooting occurred in the Ellice grill, a roadhouse at 22d street and Wolf road, Hillside. The Raleighs, who live at 2507 South 52d avenue, Cicero, were dining when the robbers entered. Among those robbed was Police Chief George Wahlstedt of Westchester, whose gun was taken. About $100 had been taken from the cash register and from patrons.

THE ENTIRE CLEVELAND MARKET

In the 143 contiguous cities of 1,000 or more population in the Cleveland Compact market, the Sunday Plain Dealer has an average coverage of more than 40 per cent. In greater Cleveland... 100 per cent coverage of English reading families.

The Halle Bros. have long been one of Cleveland's leading department stores. This typical buying group was taken in their famous Men's Store.

RESPONDS TO THIS ONE SALES INFLUENCE

Duplication of advertising effort is always a costly process.

In Cleveland you escape this added expense by using the Plain Dealer. Here is a medium that is unique. It reaches and influences a section three million lives strong. It leads this vast audience in what it thinks and does and buys.

Cleveland, as a city, is the buying hub of this greater compact market. Women and men for scores of miles around come daily to shop and buy in Cleveland. Any Cleveland Department Store will confirm this. There is only one rapid and certain way to reach this buying group—use the Plain Dealer.

The primary reason why the Cleveland compact market can be sold so economically and quickly, is that it is a one newspaper market in the strictest sense of the word. Every morning, it looks to just one newspaper—the Cleveland Plain Dealer—for business and buying guidance. And the same thing is now true on Sunday—the Sunday Plain Dealer is the only Sunday newspaper in the Cleveland area, just as the daily Plain Dealer is the only morning newspaper in this market.

Here is market coverage with all possibility of duplication eliminated. When you are in the Plain Dealer you exert a direct sales influence that closes all the gaps between manufacturer, merchant and customer. Any Cleveland merchant will tell you that it is the Plain Dealer that brings his best customers to his store.

The conclusive facts of the Cleveland situation, repeatedly established by independent surveys, comprise the most pertinent information you can have in making any sales drive for the Cleveland market. Just say the word—by letter or wire—and they will be placed on your desk at once.

SELL WITH COLOR

The Plain Dealer has it. Brilliant, smashing color that catches the eye and sells the goods. Advertisers are turning to color to quickly secure distribution and to economically sell their product.

The Sunday Plain Dealer has a beautiful distinctive magazine section. This enables the advertiser to make full use of color at a time when the impetus of striking color advertising is the greatest force that can be applied to the actual creation of sales. Write for full information.

Every English reading family is reached in greater Cleveland without duplication, by the Sunday Plain Dealer.

The cost of color is remarkably low, and excellent positions are still available. Reserve future space now. Sample pages and rates will be promptly sent to all advertisers seeking better results in Cleveland.

EIGHT ALDERMEN RATED PERFECT ON ATTENDANCE

Service Record Set Over Two Year Period.

Eight aldermen, or 16 per cent of the city council membership, attended every meeting of committees of which they are members during the two year term of the council completed early last month. Their records were revealed in the semi-annual attendance report sent to the council by City Clerk Brady.

The aldermen who make it a point not to miss a committee session were David L. Sutton (8th), William A. Rowan (10th), Frank J. Corr (17th), James B. Bowler (25th), Thomas J. Terrell (29th), James C. Moreland (41st), James B. Waller (43rd), and John A. Masson (48th). All except Waller were re-elected to the council for another two year term.

Six Score for 18 Months.
There were six councilmen whose attendance was marked perfect during the last 18 months. They were Walter W. Morris (18th), O. E. Northrup (19th), John Foman (24th), Frank A. Sloan (26th), George A. Williston (49th) and James R. Quinn (50th). Morris and Sloan were defeated at the recent aldermanic elections.

Clerk Brady's report gives attendance marks of 100 to 35 aldermen for the five and one half months' period between Oct. 18, 1932, and March 31, 1933. Last October his report showed that 40 aldermen had not missed a single committee meeting during the period April 1 to Oct. 31, 1932. During the six months' period prior to April 1, 1932, only 14 aldermen were credited with perfect attendance, and for the period, April 1, 1931, to Sept. 31, 1931, only 8 aldermen achieved the high record.

Figures on Attendance.
The attendance figures for the aldermen for the period, Oct. 18, 1932 to March 31, 1933, follow:

Illness Chief Excuse.
Illness ranks highest as the excuse given by the aldermen for nonattendance. Aid. Joseph Higgins Smith did not run for reelection last February because illness had kept him away from the council continually, and Aid. Thomas A. Doyle also has been ill frequently. Sheldon W. Govier, who had the poorest record, was elected clerk of the Appellate court last November, and reported that his duties there kept him from committee sessions. Nelson, Ross, Sonnenschein and Cronson reported illness as the cause of several absences.

The attendance record will be kept by Clerk Brady during the two year term of the new council.

WED 67 YEARS; 30 OF FAMILY TO HELP CELEBRATE

Sixty-seven years of married life will be celebrated today by Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer B. Mills at their home, 431 North Long avenue. Three surviving children of their family of thirteen will be on hand for the reception this afternoon, together with thirteen grandchildren and fourteen great-grandchildren. Mr. Mills, who is 83 years old, and was born in Canada, is an inventor who has to his credit 400 patents on mechanical devices of many kinds. He still is active. Mrs. Mills is 83 and two years ago was on the honor roll of the Tauxem's annual garden competition. She was born in De Witt, Ia. The couple were married at De Witt in 1866.

TEN GO ON TRIAL AT PEORIA TODAY ON KIDNAPING CHARGE

Peoria, Ill., April 30.—[Special.]—First test of the new federal kidnaping laws, passed following the abduction and slaying of the son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, will be made in the trial of 10 alleged kidnapers scheduled to start tomorrow in United States district court here.

The defendants are Frank Delbono, Joe Varsalona, Carl Delbono, Wesley E. Pritchett, and John Stellanio, all of Chicago; Mike Tabarico and Victor Ciesielski, both of Davenport, Ia.; Dan Cook, East Moline; Frank L. "Fat" Smith, Rock Island, and Vincent Burman, Spring Valley, Ill. They are charged with attempting through ransom letters to extort large sums of money from Adhemar Huughes, East Moline, and Fred DeDillipi, Spring Valley, who were kidnaped last year.

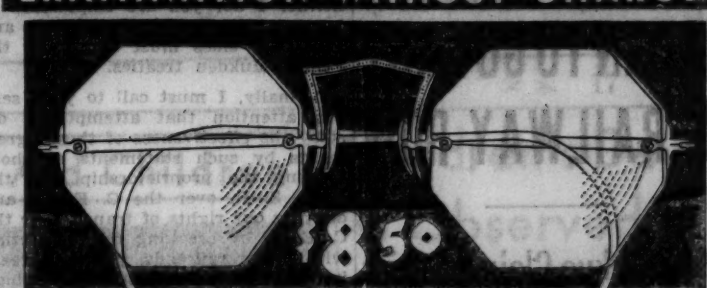

MOVING TO SHOW DECLINE TODAY, SAY REALTY MEN

Today is one of the traditional semi-annual moving days. A few families transported their household possessions to new homes yesterday to avoid today's rush. Experts estimate that the day's press will not be so great as that of previous years, because landlords made attractive propositions to retain most tenants who contemplated moving, and also many leases drawn in the last few years have set other expiration dates than April 30 or Sept. 30.

Real estate men said that most of the shifting will be done by families which have been doubled up with relatives and friends. These will find the cost of moving the same. The standard scale is $5 an hour for loading and unloading where two men are employed and $1 a mile for distance covered between homes. The Movers' Association of Chicago will meet May 12 to consider a reduction of the scale.

School children packed their books as the annual spring vacation ended.

RUSSIA WARNS JAPAN TO GO EASY IN RAILWAY ROW

Manchukuo Claims Soviet Doesn't Own Road.

MOSCOW, April 30. (AP)—The months long dispute between Russia and Manchukuo over the jointly operated Chinese Eastern railway, took on a more serious turn tonight with the publication of a communique in which Li Shao-keng, Manchukuoan chairman of the railway board, openly challenged Russia's claim to ownership of the C. E. R.

In reply, M. Kuznetsov, soviet vice chairman of the board, declared it was a "direct lie" that the soviet authorities were holding locomotives belonging to the railroad without authorization in soviet territory. This question has been one of the points at issue between the joint operators of the line.

The counter-claim was advanced by the soviet representative on the directorate that such action represents "a direct attempt to break the Peking-Mukden agreements" governing operations of the road.

Russian Issues Warning.
A warning was issued by the Russian representative that "any attempt to destroy the force of the Peking-Mukden agreements disturbs the international status on which the management of the Chinese Eastern railway is based." He demanded that the normal activities of the road be restored and that "further attempts to break those agreements" be stopped.

Replying to statements made by Kuznetsov in a letter April 23, in which the soviet representative charged that Manchurian authorities had committed violent acts aimed at undermining the functions of the line and that Manchurian representatives on the board had failed to take measures to protect the railroad's interests, the Manchukuo director declared that "your interpretation that the C. E. R. belongs to the soviet union has no juridical basis." Li further questioned the validity of the Peking and Mukden treaties in 1924, establishing the joint Russo-Chinese administration of the road.

Attempts to Break Agreements.
Protesting that "a year after I have explained the soviet position in this matter, the question of cars and locomotives is suddenly raised by Manchukuo," the Russian, Kuznetsov, declared, "They have done it intentionally as a pretext for ignoring the Peking and Mukden agreements."

"I must press now for a quick and special agreement for uninterrupted communication between the C. E. R. and the railroads of the U. S. S. R. By denying the right of transit to soviet traffic over the C. E. R. it is evident Manchukuo attaches little importance to the C. E. R.'s obligations. I must in reply inform you very categorically and firmly that neither I nor you are empowered to break agreements and contracts, and that both sides must carry out the Peking-Mukden treaties.

"Finally, I must call to your serious attention that attempts to destroy the effectiveness of these agreements by such statements as those denying the proprietorship of the U. S. S. R. over the C. E. R., and denying our rights of transit over the C. E. R. by breaking the connection with soviet railroads, you are breaking the international status on which the management of the C. E. R. must be based."

MISSING KANSAS SCHOOL GIRL IS FOUND SLAIN

Bonner Springs, Kas., April 30. (AP)—Her neck bound tightly with her own jumping rope, the body of 8-year-old Nadine Vogel Love of Kansas City, Kas., was found in a clump of woods a mile north of Bonner Springs today. The girl disappeared April 20 while en route to her home from school. She was a first grade pupil. The body was found by three men hunting mushrooms. Dr. E. D. Williams, Wyandotte county coroner, said he believed the child was the victim of a degenerate. Estimating she had been dead 10 days, Dr. Williams said indications were her assailant had attacked her. Death, he said, probably resulted from strangulation. He said the condition of the child's clothing and tracks left in the leaves scattered over the ground nearby indicated she had been dragged at the end of the rope a distance of 40 feet.

"The Old Order" of relationship between government and business was regulatory. Government saw to it that business did not do certain things which were contrary to public interest. It was a negative relationship.

"The New Order will be different. Government will not act merely as a policeman. It will force business to do things.

"Private business will continue to be our economic mainstay. Government will do an increasing share of banking. This means that government bonds will occupy a bigger part of the investment picture.

"You, as a business man, will not have the same degree of individual freedom as in the past. You will be compelled to play ball more closely with others in your line. Business will acquire more of the service motive.

"The reason for getting in tune with the new order lies in the probability that you will get along better, perhaps even make more money, than if you continue to follow the old rules."

"THE TRIBUNE IS THE ONE, OUTSTANDING MEDIUM FOR Blum's"

THIS letter from one of Chicago's foremost retailers in women's wear is Mr. Blum's way of expressing a fact well known to Chicago retailers as a group.

During the first three months of this year, retail advertisers used 165,549 more lines of advertising in the Chicago Tribune than they used in any other Chicago newspaper.

The Chicago Tribune, with its 52% coverage of all the families of Chicago and suburbs, today is delivering alone practically all of the buying power in this metropolitan market.

If you want to increase sales at a profit, ask a Tribune representative to help you work out a program of advertising to take advantage of the sales making power of the Tribune.

Mr. W. E. Macfarlane, Business Manager,
The Chicago Tribune,
Chicago, Illinois.

My dear Mr. Macfarlane:

On April second, we launched a campaign in the Tribune based on the theme that "Cost need no longer deny you the distinction of Blum's fashions." Full pages appeared on April second and ninth, supplemented with a number of other advertisements in your paper.

I can tell you now, two weeks after our first full page, that this campaign is most successful and will be continued. Since April second our unit sales of wearing apparel are up exactly 29% over the same period a year ago. We doubled the number of new charge accounts opened and dollar volume shows a very satisfactory increase.

These facts confirm once more what every advertising test in our 23-year history has always shown. The Tribune is the one, outstanding medium in Chicago for Blum's.

I invite you to come down and see for yourself the number of women now shopping at Blum's!

Very cordially,

W. E. Macfarlane

Garbo Returns with a Wave for Film Fans

Lands at San Diego; Poses for Photographers.

San Diego, Cal., April 30.—(AP)—Greta Garbo returned to America today to resume her work in the films and, with a wave of her hand to several scores of fans who had arisen at dawn to see her ship dock, she said she was glad to be back.

Tanned by the wind and the sun on the long trip from Gothenburg aboard the Annie Johnson, combination freight and passenger vessel, the actress disembarked here to motor to Hollywood with Mrs. Salka Viertel, wife of a film director.

Miss Garbo left the film capital last July to sail from New York for a trip to her native Sweden without saying whether she would return. Leaving her plans as indefinite today as they were then, she parried a query as to how long she would remain here with:

"I don't know. One never knows what tomorrow will bring, does one?"

The actress, shy of the curious, was the first to leave the Swedish vessel when it docked. She stopped between gangplank and motor car only long enough to pass a word with newspapermen, pose for photographers and say good-bye in the husky voice familiar to millions of screen fans, to her companions on the trip.

That, however, was far more than the Garbo of last year was wont to do. The Garbo mystery, if not exploded, at least was cracked with her return from abroad. She appeared nervous.

The nervousness, said Capt. C. O. Holmberg, master of the ship, was not feigned.

"Miss Garbo," he said, "was just like any other passenger on the trip. In fact, she was the easiest to do with of any aboard, but she became nervous yesterday. I think she was afraid of the crowd which she knew would be waiting here. It was the same at every port we visited. She is shy."

By the way, the captain added, "Miss Garbo is an excellent sailor. She was the only passenger who was not seasick at all."

The Annie Johnson left Gothenburg at midnight March 25. Capt. Holmberg said only two friends accompanied the actress to the ship. There were less than a half-dozen first class passengers on the trip.

George Wingert, a young Englishman who boarded the boat at Antwerp for Los Angeles, said Miss Garbo set a new fashion in shipboard attire. "She wore shorts and a sweater in tropical waters," he said, "and yesterday, when it was cold and rainy, she wore dungarees."

Miss Garbo had the run of the ship, being the only passenger allowed on the bridge.

Miss Garbo is to begin work on a new film next week. She did not talk of her work to any of her fellow passengers.

Two Stars of Old Negro Hit in New Show

"Shuffle Along of 1933" Is Brisk Pastime.

"SHUFFLE ALONG OF 1933." A musical comedy given at the Illinois theater April 30, 1933, under the management of Joel Beckmeyer. Score by Eubie Blake, libretto by Flournoy Miller, lyrics by Noble Sissle.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

After a year and a half as a ghost theater, the Illinois reopened last night with an entertainment given by a company of Negro entertainers called "Shuffle Along of 1933." The title recalls the most popular of the Negro musical comedies, staged about fifteen years ago and famous for a rollicking song hit called "I'm Just Wild About Harry."

Two of the four men who helped to carry "Shuffle Along" through a season or more of prosperity—Eubie Blake, composer and pianist, and Flournoy Miller, comedian—are prominently engaged in this production. A third, Noble Sissle, is named as the lyric writer of the program. Thus one of the brightest traditions of Negro theatrical gaiety is partly revived.

The first "Shuffle Along" established a standard by which these Afro-American frolics have been measured since 1926 or thereabouts. The impresarios who specialize in these affairs have been assiduous in their searching for another "Shuffle Along," and time after time they have heard the verdict, "Not another—not anywhere near it." The current show, which bravely adopts the famous title, must also be appraised in that manner. The old champion still reigns.

Yet this is a brisk song-and-dance pastime, fairly good in its kind. Mr. Miller holds many amusing conversations with his present comic partner, Mantle Moreland, and the pair carry the show's wisp of a story, which is concerned with rival grocery store keepers who get mixed up in the frenzied finance of a molasses factory. Mr. Blake sits with the orchestra in command of his piano; late in the second act he gets the spotlight and plays a characteristic recital.

The dancing girls are a choice group of Harlem's comely young "browns," admirably trained, and the soft shoe tapping boys are, as usual, amazingly agile. The twenty numbers on the program contain some lively ditties—but not another "Harry." The best singing occurs when the Boatner choir appears to chant jubilees, spirituals, and familiar sentimental numbers.

The Shakespeare theater of New York announces its intention to stage a musical spectacle in Chicago, opening July 1, under the title "America." An elaborate show of this title was the dominating feature of the city's theatrical amusements during the World's Fair of 1893. Negotiations for a theater are in progress.

Educational Features Boost Toy Sales to 200 Million Mark

During the last two decades, the evolution of playthings from useless trifles to educational aids has developed the industry from an annual sales volume of $50,000,000 to $200,000,000, giving employment to more than 100,000. The Toy Manufacturers' association announced yesterday in connection with the opening today at the Stevens hotel of the American Toy Fair. The exhibit, called the largest ever staged, will include 50,000 items for amusement of juveniles and adults, and will continue until May 13.

Rubber-Silk Outfits Win Slim Shopper

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Slim young divinites . . . the sleek, practically straight up and down gay young shoppers who are dashing around the town wearing all the daring skin fitting clothes that they can also wear with their fashionable soul to wear as smoothly and as effectively as these young gals do, are wearing the new silk and rubber combinations. Underlayers made of that amazing new stuff that has revolutionized the fashions are now the swiftest, slickest unmentionables to be found.

There are some airy trifles made of firm flesh colored crepe silk, combined with insets of rubber, that perform miracles in keeping a super-smooth silhouette of the wearer. They are really the smallest shorts or pants you can find. . . . You can find them with and without garters, with either silk or satin combined with the rubber material. Of course, these scant underlayers are especially presented to the very slim fashionable, the popular tree or string bean silhouette owners who merely wear them for a smooth unbroken line and the necessary anchorage for indispensable garters.

They are particularly helpful for the seagulling mermaids, snug wrinkles— "smoothes" that will perform obligingly under the snugness of sea suits. The more satin than rubber models are what you will wear for evening— the one perfect foundation for skin clinging satin or silk or even form fitting filmy net or cotton evening or dance dresses. They are now ready in flesh, white and black.

A scanty affair to wear from dawn till dusk is a two way stretch model made entirely of silk rubber that does what it is called—i. e., stretches two ways without wandering beyond the original anchorage. . . . a short but ruffled skirt of silk mesh piped with silk, doubles for pants, under-slip and slip. These brevities trot the tub at a minute's notice, can be switched through a lather of sous, hung up to dry and be as snappily firm as they were when you first bought them—surely something to be properly impressed about!

But the smooth new satin all in one is the pride of the most knowing buyers. . . . It is made of incredibly smooth and thin rubbered satin. . . . It fits even smoother and tighter than your own skin. It successfully molds the silhouette without the slightest suggestion of a wrinkle, and it really is an all in one. . . . for the satin sections form very short and brief panties, a confining band around the diaphragm and an exquisitely fashioned Alencon lace braerie is being expertly applied on to the satin. It, too, can be laundered excessively and most successfully.

Many in Society Will Move to Country Residences Today

Usual Number to Spend Summer Season in North and West Suburbs.

BY JUDITH CASS.

NEXT to May baskets, the most popular topic of conversation today will be white shingle houses, potted geraniums, and vegetable patches. In the more practical vernacular, May day is moving day. Before dawn vans will block the doorways of town apartments and residences, and before nightfall many a family will have a dining room table and a bedstead properly located in the country.

The exodus to suburbs north and west this season—despite the reports that A Century of Progress would hold every one in town—is both large and notable. Householders are figuring that their guests will appreciate a breath of country air after long, footsore days at the fair—and rightly so.

In the vanguard of the procession are Mr. and Mrs. James A. Cathart, the John D. Amesess, the Edwin Campes, and the Sidney Smith Gorhams among others. They have all moved from town within the last fortnight. Today many more are changing their addresses. There are the young John MacLaren Simpsons, the John Dennehys, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Belden, the Eric Lambarts, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Garard, and the Burford L. Porters. The John J. Finlays and the junior Murray P. Brushes will follow within the next fortnight.

"Jack" Simpson and his bride, who was Constance Hasler, are packing all their lovely wedding presents off to the Frank Hibbards' little house on the edge of Shore Acres. This is an ideal honeymoon house built by the Hibbards for week-ends. They became so endeared to it, however, that they used it last summer for their permanent hot weather place. On the ridge close by it are the homes of F. Hampden Winstons, the Gustavus Swifts, and the Howard Linns. Just a week ago the Linns gave up their Cedar street house for Shore Acres.

The Eric Lambarts (Mrs. Lambart was Ruth Holmes before she married) are going from one suburb to another today. They are deserting Oak Park. Mrs. Lambart's former home, for a small white shingle house. . . . English style. . . . on Ash street in Winnetka. And they are perfectly delighted that Mr. and Mrs. James L. Garard are moving from the south side to a house on the north side in Glencoe. Sand pile blueprints are especially concerning the Lambarts, since they have a young son, Eric Jr., two years old, and a baby daughter, Margot, just six months of age.

Prophet of Winnetka, Victor Eltinge has rented his great English stucco house, with all of its servants' quarters and gardens, to the junior Robert Rosolons, who have been occupying the Merritt Starr house. Martineau, you may remember, used to rent the Eltinge house during the summer months. This year Mr. Eltinge is coming in town to live with Arthur G. Cable, who will be "backing it" while his family is at their interesting holiday house at Santa Fe.

Today the John Dennehys are changing their Lake Forest address from Alhambra road to Waukegan and Deerpath roads. They have taken one of the cottages on the Leonard estate. Arriving in Lake Forest today will be the Joseph C. Beldens and the Burford L. Porters. Friends of the former Bates shop at 614 South Michigan avenue are at 614 South Michigan to tempt World's Fair visitors. Mrs. Dennehys and Mrs. Louis Skidmore, who both love to dabble in paint and decorate interiors, have "done" the new shop and today the stock is to be moved, with the assistance of Mrs. Wesley Dixon, Mrs. William McCormick Blair, Mrs. Laurence B. Robbins, Mrs. Morris K. Wilson, Mrs. Donald F. McPherson, and Mrs. James B. Forgan Jr.

The exodus west includes the John J. Finlays and the Arthur Meyerses. Tomorrow the Finlays with 3 1/2 year old Barbara are moving to Geneva. Apparently they plan to have plenty of room in which to entertain house parties of their city friends, for they have taken a large, old house with a beautiful big yard. Mr. and Mrs. Meyers and their two small children, Sheldon and Priscilla, will also be year round residents in Geneva, for they have bought a charming place. Mrs. Meyers' twin sister, Mrs. Edwin Camp, and her husband have given up their town apartment for a place in Glencoe.

Sidney Gorhams at Winnetka. In fact both the Camps and their good friends the Sidney Gorhams, developed country fever at once. The Gorhams moved last Friday to a white frame, red roofed house on Indian Hill road in Winnetka, where Baby Sidney III. will have an abundance of sunshine and fresh air. Other friends of the Gorhams, the John D. Amesess, have given up their Elm street apartment for a house at Glen View. Because the Amesesses found a house in the Ojai valley in California so much to their liking they have rented their handsome Lake Forest house (by mail) to the James A. Catharts and the Gerald Grants (Mrs. Grant was Rosemary Gallery) who have changed their street number from 3740 Lake Shore drive to 699 Walden road, Winnetka, for the next six months. . . . the young Burton R. Gebhardt who with their two year old daughter, Gloria, have moved from parties of their city friends, for they have taken a large, old house with a beautiful big yard. Mr. and Mrs. Meyers and their two small children, Sheldon and Priscilla, will also be year round residents in Geneva, for they have bought a charming place. Mrs. Meyers' twin sister, Mrs. Edwin Camp, and her husband have given up their town apartment for a place in Glencoe.

Today the John Dennehys are changing their Lake Forest address from Alhambra road to Waukegan and Deerpath roads. They have taken one of the cottages on the Leonard estate. Arriving in Lake Forest today will be the Joseph C. Beldens and the Burford L. Porters. Friends of the former Bates shop at 614 South Michigan avenue are at 614 South Michigan to tempt World's Fair visitors. Mrs. Dennehys and Mrs. Louis Skidmore, who both love to dabble in paint and decorate interiors, have "done" the new shop and today the stock is to be moved, with the assistance of Mrs. Wesley Dixon, Mrs. William McCormick Blair, Mrs. Laurence B. Robbins, Mrs. Morris K. Wilson, Mrs. Donald F. McPherson, and Mrs. James B. Forgan Jr.

The exodus west includes the John J. Finlays and the Arthur Meyerses. Tomorrow the Finlays with 3 1/2 year old Barbara are moving to Geneva. Apparently they plan to have plenty of room in which to entertain house parties of their city friends, for they have taken a large, old house with a beautiful big yard. Good Morning!

Being one of the many who have a permanent crush on Mr. Roland Young, I am of course delighted that "Pleasure Cruise" offers us a lot of him.

Not much can be said for his vehicle, which is a silly and overdone piece of playwriting; but a great deal CAN be said in favor of the droll Roland's performance.

He impersonates a not at all successful English novelist who is also a gentleman of some importance in his social world. We make Andrew's acquaintance just after the wolf has eased in his door. The scene is an auction and our hero's goods and chattels and old family mansion are on the block.

Andrew figures his business woman fiancée, Shirley, will be content to call her engagement off. But not Shirley loves her Andrew and insists on immediate marriage. She will continue working, I assume, and he shall stay home, write and, incidentally, attend to the housekeeping.

As you might imagine, a little of this goes a long way. Andrew is a jealous man, while he drags, I imagine, Shirley, in her office, as pursued by every man she has chance to mention.

The two get on each other's nerves. Upshot is—a pleasure cruise for Shirley and, supposedly, a fishing trip for Andrew. ONLY you see, our little man doesn't go sailing. Instead he hires out as barber on the boat bearing his wife, and agonizedly prepares to spy on her and learn the worst—for he is sure that she is, as the popular biand puts it, "too beautiful for one man alone."

The rest of the picture is concerned with adventures on the steamer. Moral seems to be that a wife, to learn what a really Great Lover she has inadvertently annexed, should take a boat trip with him—not knowing that he is with her. [If that sounds impossible, see the picture and be convinced that it isn't.]

Mr. Young is in fine fettle all the way and, as per usual, you love him. Genevieve Tobin wears charming clothes and handles the rôle of Shirley with a pleasingly light touch. Couldn't stand Ralph Forbes as one O'Clock, but maybe you can. Herbert Mundie, Mina Gombell, Una O'Connor, et al. perform commendably.

The action moves along at a pretty lively clip and here and there can be eked out a laugh. The climax is reminiscent of that in "The Guardsman"—though "Pleasure Cruise" should not be mentioned in the same breath with that classic comedy-drama.

See you tomorrow!

Col. Farrand Is Guest at Tea for St. John's Alumni

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Strotz gave a reception yesterday at the Ambassador East hotel for Col. and Mrs. Roy Felton Farrand. Col. Farrand is president of St. John's Military academy, Delaford, Wis., of which Mr. Strotz is an alumnus. There were 150 other guests, including a number of present and former students, and parents of students. The academy's club sang, and Col. Farrand spoke.

The young woman in this instance has her own ideas about married life, too. She says when she marries she intends to work at that job in the good, old fashioned way.

Now, how far she can apply her principles to the $25 a week is the problem. Personally, we feel it would be better to postpone the marriage for another year, if possible. In the meantime, save every nickel toward the big adventure that can be saved. With a little nest egg, the twenty-five would be a surer gamble.

The girl's job necessarily requires that she keep on living at her place of employment, so there isn't any solution here through the usual medium of the young woman's keeping her job. We have heard of employers permitting maids' husbands to move in, but they are not common in number, to be sure. Besides, we don't know that it is exactly the way to begin married life, the living quarters being so limited, usually.

They are in love. There's no question about that. He sees the girl every night. When leaving time comes, he can't bear the thought. Neither can the girl. They want to marry—but . . .

The girl will have to give up her job if they do. The young man isn't sure how long his present job will last. It costs him $12 to $15 a week to live. The question is, how far would this amount go toward upkeep of a small apartment? Or would it do at all? Nothing is said about any money saved, so we presume there is none.

the south side to Winnetka. . . and Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay III, who have given up the Richardson house in Wheaton for one in Wayne.

As soon as Mrs. R. Boynton Rogers returns from Washington with her five year old daughter, Iris, she and Mr. Rogers will choose a Lake Forest house. As long as there is a beach nearby the junior Murray Brushes don't care which one of the north shore suburbs they move to this month. The Charles True Adamases are going this week to Winnetka.

And still another removal, though not from town to country. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Mosser are leaving Stratford place for the old building at 25 East Walton place built by Mrs. Mosser's father, Harry Rubens, during the World's Fair of 1893. This was one of the first fireproof apartment buildings in the city.

Century Club Dedication Today.

Motors arriving at the Century of Progress this afternoon will pour out such notables as Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer, Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, and Mr. and Mrs. John W. Root. They are a few of the 100 and more officers and members of the Century club who will dedicate the new club building on the southern tip of North Lake at 3 o'clock—very informally, merely by way of inspection.

"The idea," explains Mr. Cramer, "is to show that the club building is now three-quarters finished, and that the club is soon to function as a very important and vital part of the fair. In other words, we want to make a Century of Progress Century club conscious."

The clubrooms are the glorified penthouse atop the Blue Ribbon casino, located between the 23d street bridge and the Horticultural building. Mr. Cramer and Mr. Root are the architects, and Mr. Cramer's partner, Arthur Meeker, is the president of the club. Unfortunately, however, Mr. Meeker will not attend the dedication ceremonies this afternoon, since he is vacationing in California with Mrs. Meeker, who is recovering from an illness.

Italian Prince Due This Week.

Prince Ludovico Spada Veralli Pontzenziani, royal Italian commissioner to A Century of Progress, who visited Chicago a couple of months ago in the interest of the fair, is due back in town this week. He lands in New York Friday and will board the train immediately for Chicago, and here he will remain through June.

The Danta Alighieri society already has invitations out for a dinner for the nobleman at 7 o'clock the evening of May 10 at the Belden-Stratford hotel.

Children of members of the Woman's Athletic club are spending hours in the club swimming pool these days practicing for the junior swimming meet the club is to have at 11 o'clock next Saturday morning. Mothers and big sisters are planning special parties.

Other letters in the weekend mail told of Jacob Viner's appearance before the Council on Foreign Relations at 12:30 next Friday and a luncheon of the American Friends of China on May 8 at the Field museum. Dr. Viner, professor of economics at the University of Chicago, is to discuss "Inflation."

The speaker at the Field museum party will be Dr. Berthold Laufer, curator of the museum. He will tell about the newly installed Chinese collections. This luncheon was originally planned for the early part of April.

The Tower Town group of the Chicago Junior school is bringing Ellery Falter back to Chicago next week. On the evening of May 11 Mr. Falter, who made a trip around the world on one leg and then wrote about it, is to discuss "Germany Today and Tomorrow" at the Drake hotel for the benefit of the Junior school which are for "half orphan" boys. Each of its branches contributed scholarships for the support of the boys. Mrs. O. C. Brodway is president of the Tower Town group.

Mrs. Shaw Writes of Chinese War.

"You probably know more about the war than we do here," writes Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw from the supposedly beleaguered city of Peking to some of her friends back here. "Today we visited the Great Wall, peered through into Manchuria, saw a guard with a gun and felt very dangerous. Theo is in a gay whirl, having a taste of society with a big 'S' in the diplomatic world. Mr. Calhoun gave a dinner for 24 in our honor at which Henry Monroe assisted with great dignity and lively wit. Theo sat between the Spanish and French ministers surrounded by U. S. army and navy officers. We sail for San Francisco May 10."

Mrs. Shaw with her daughter, Theodora, and the Charles Atkinsons are now enjoying Honolulu before the last lap of the journey to the California port. The party has had two weeks amid the cherry blossoms of Japan and ten delightful days with Mrs. Calhoun, a former Chicagoan who has taken an old Chinese temple for her home in Peking.

News of a Chicagoan who has been abroad for three or four years: Mrs. Lombard Simpson. She sailed last fall from Italy for a trip around the world by way of the Suez canal and due to land in Seattle on June 8. She plans to spend the summer in California, but her friends here hope that she will decide to come to Chicago before A Century of Progress closes. Mrs. Simpson spent a month in Colombo with some former Chicagoans, Dr. and Mrs. Casey Wood, during her world traveling.

Child Health Groups Stress Infant Care

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON EVANS.

"Nine years ago," says the American Child Health association, "we dedicated May day to child health, choosing as a motto, 'Joy in Health for Every Child.' Every year since 1924 we have observed the day, and every year in early May the attention of the nation has been called to some special need of children. We have reached forward to new goals, or consolidated recent gains."

"This year we are fighting not to slip back. Effort is focused on the most vulnerable section of our population, and the slogan for the year is MOTHERS AND BABIES FIRST. The slogan was chosen by the Child Health Day committee of the Conference of State and Provincial Health Authorities of North America because the committee of health officers realized that if we neglect our babies and our expectant and nursing mothers now, we cannot make up for the neglect later on. The child in his early years must have care and nourishment if he is to grow and develop normally."

"All over the country plans are afoot for community-wide activities on behalf of childhood. Every state has its chairman, who is usually the director of the division of child hygiene in the state board of health, and helpful suggestions are circulated from state headquarters to the many county and community leaders who are taking a hand in making our country safe for babies."

The day provides an excellent opportunity for public agencies and private organizations to work together.

"The American Child Health association, which launched Child Health day nine years ago, is retiring from the central responsibility which has this year been taken over by the Conference of Health Authorities. But it still renders assistance and a booklet of suggestions for May Day-Child Health day can be secured for a small charge from its office at 450 Seventh avenue, New York City."

Patou Puts Bib, Sash on Simple Afternoon Frock

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Maybe it's second childhood that makes the Paris dressmakers so passionately fond of bibs and sashes this spring. If that's it, their clients are all for the sartorial return to the days of real bibs, because the bib and the sash, together or separate, are being okayed by smart women generally.

Jean Patou's way of applying the bib to the simple afternoon dress, and his method with the sash are illustrated. He takes this dress, of pearl blue crepe marocain, and around the neck he puts a bib of dark blue crepe marocain. He sets the bib on askew, and drapes it after the manner of a scarf when attacking his oatmeal.

When it comes to applying the dark blue sash, Patou shows that he knows his modern-woman anatomy, and avoids putting the thing all the way around the waistline, thus keeping the exact girth of that line from being advertised.

Poaching Eggs Offers Element of Adventure

BY MARY MEADE.

It's really great fun, this egg poaching business, with an element of adventure in it. For those golden ovals of goodness may break to perfection. They may sink sweetly down in their almost boiling bath and simmer themselves to just the height of white and yellow goodness.

Or, on the other hand, sad things may happen.

Of course, poaching is really merely the cooking of an egg without its shell in water or steam. We annexed the name from the French word pocher, which means "to place in a pocket." So what we're really doing is poaching or pocketing our yolk in its white. The trick, of course, is to hold the temperature down below the boiling point and keep the eggs delicately tender. Besides that we want each egg to have a good shape when done. One way is to slip them, one at a time, from a saucer into boiling water and at once set the pan off the burner. The water wants to remain hot but not to boil.

We'll now let the eggs stand, covered, for about three minutes, the time depending on the firmness desired. Then scoop them out with a skimmer, garnish, and serve. Or we may use one of the many poachers on the market.

And, by the way, those poachers, any of them will do double duty. Had you discovered it? Besides tending to eggs, they'll steam custards and other dishes for which the directions say "set in a pan of water and bake."

But now for quick tricks for presenting the perfect poach. The first is a luncheon dish. It involves cream sauce, cut-up shrimp and chopped mushrooms. The foundation is hot buttered toast. On each slice place a poached egg. Over this pour a shrimp and mushroom cream sauce. You will want about one-half cup of shrimp and one-quarter cup of mushrooms for each cup of creamy sauce. Garnish with parsley and serve spanking hot.

Or for poached eggs à la Dumas start also with hot buttered toast. Onto each slice ease a poached egg. Over the eggs spread horseradish

Down in Florida they have another idea of how a poached egg should

sweet potatoes on hand cook them until tender, peel and mash. Form the potato into round patties and fry in butter till brown on both sides.

Now on each patty place a piping hot poached egg and blanket the whole savory with tomato sauce.

A poached egg on buttered toast covered with Hollandaise sauce and garnished with small sardines and flowerets of cooked cauliflower is an other tempter.

Mixed hash combined with a poached egg and blessed with paprika sauce does still more things to the appetite.

And so the inspirations fairly pop in eagerness to be tried. You can even set to and invent a few yourself. One of the almost-essentials is a good, snappy sauce—and from then on the world is yours!

A cream sauce is a good base.

Simply 2 tablespoons each of flour and butter, 1 cup of milk and seasoning.

Parisians Wear Casual Clothes on the Riviera

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

"West Point Exercises," an illustrated booklet outlining the series of exercises recently presented in these columns through the courtesy of the United States Military academy, may be obtained by sending five cents in coin or stamps to Antoinette Donnelly, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Or call at The Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn Street.

If the fattened purse keeps you on this side of the Riviera, at least you can read about what's going on in the world. Beside, pretty soon what is worn and done on the other side of the Atlantic won't be so interesting as what is doing along our own Riviera right here in this country.

At any rate, one M'sieu Lucien Le-long, famous for his ability to design a frock that is a dream, tells us that where life grows less and less formal every season, meaning up the Riviera, the uses of versatility, the power of color and perfume become inestimable.

It's fashionable to wear only the simplest and most casual of clothes: Pajamas, and unbuttoned cotton or linen frocks, shorts, and sweaters. Women lounge on the decks of their luxurious power boats and yachts in these garments with tiny, flat caps perched tilted forward over bronzed faces, or wide floppy hats, throwing the face into mysterious and alluring shadow, and on their feet they wear sandals copied meticulously from those worn in ancient Greece.

Therein you have the perfect background for the powerful elements of color, perfume and line, tells M'sieu Le-long. Elements that make a woman unforgettable even in a sort of uniform. Colors are chosen for their charm in sunlight and against brown satin skin. White is the safe and sure shade, as black belongs with the gray of the city—but the chic one adds to white one of the happy, clear and vivid tones to play it up.

For more sparkle to the beach costumes, toes and fingernails are tinted to a jewellike brilliance.

Then for the real appeal there comes the perfume. The true art of perfume using, this French connoisseur tells us, is experimentation with various blends until one is met that harmonizes with the costume and the occasion. Now you may be a certain scented sun goddess, but don't think you may use that same certain scent for formal wear.

CHICAGO TURF SEASON OPENS TODAY AT 2 TRACKS

sportsman's Park, Aurora Ready.

Horses, swift and slow, large and small, from 2 year olds which never faced the barrier to venerable thoroughbreds of 8 and 10 which have been running around American tracks so long they're beginning to have dizzy spells, will open Chicago's six months' turf season this afternoon at Sportsman's Park in Cicero and at Exposition Park, Aurora. Post time will be 2:15.

Last night thousands of racing fans were dusting off their binoculars and studying the form sheets in an effort to pick the winners of the inaugural handicaps which will feature the programs at each track. And they were paying particular attention to those horses which like to run in the mud, for there were prospects that the going would be sloppy as a result of week-end rains.

New Form of Betting.

Sportsman's park, the half mile track operated by the National Jockey club, was preparing to handle a crowd of 10,000 to 15,000. Joseph Cattarinich and Robert S. Eddy Jr., new directors of the Aurora course, predicted 7,500 would pass through the gates looking for winners.

There'll be a new form of amusement today for the folks who like to collect a lot for a little. The quinnella, in which the customer picks the horses which finish first and second, will be introduced in the last four races at Sportsman's park and in the last race at Aurora. The record quinnella paid off last year was $3,100.75 on the combination of Grand Duchess and Entrap at Thoroughbred park.

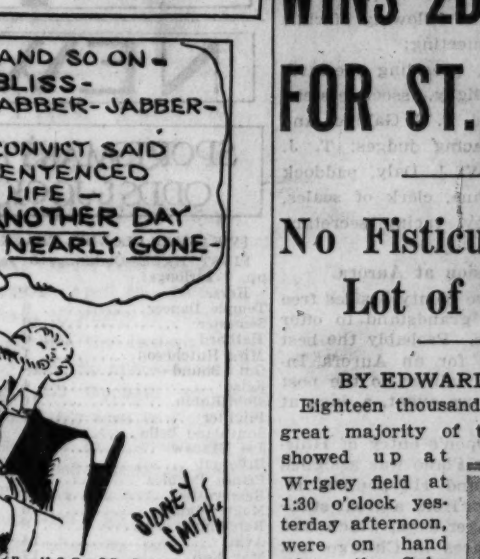

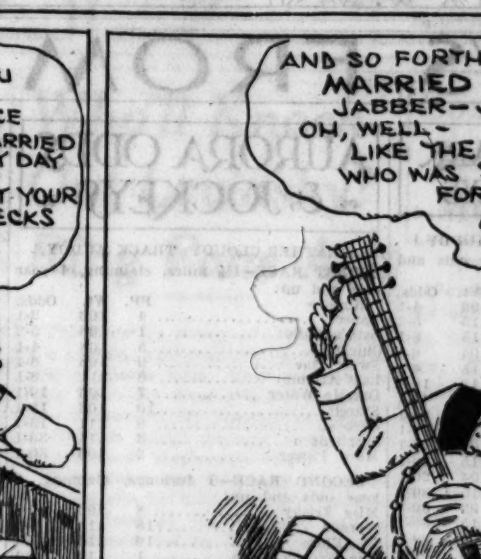

The second and third races at each park will be coupled in the daily double. Just pick the two winners and collect. Last season a gent at Aurora won himself $3,122 by pairing up Tuffnut and Knockabout. The record is $4,320.52 on Lillie Bloom and J. George at Fairmount park.

12 Named for Sprint.

Twelve sprinters were named overnight for the $1,000 Inaugural Handicap at Sportsman's park, which will be over a distance of seven furlongs. Sun Memory, a gelded son of Sun Brier which races in the silks of Mrs. C. Kinsey, was expected to go to the post favorite. Sun Memory won two dashes at the Fair Grounds in March and scored another victory on April 15 at Lexington. All were over muddy or slow tracks.

Stuyvesant Peabody's consistent pair of Martie Flynn and Miss Melody, making their first start of the season, also attracted considerable attention from the dopests burning midnight oil. The field is so well matched that the grand old system, enieme-miney-mo, probably would work as well as anything.

Mr. Peabody also is going to try to put over Technocracy—the horse—in the secondary feature, a sprint of 4 1/2 furlongs for 2 year olds. Technocracy is a son of Upset-Polly Flinders, and will be making his first start. Farmer Bob, the other half of the Peabody entry, has been working well. The favorite probably will be Alena, a daughter of Nocturnal, owned by

WESTERN DERBY ELIGIBLES HOLD AN ALIBI PARTY

Trainers Explain Defeat in Test Race.

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Louisville, Ky., April 30.—[Special.]—There was a sort of "Don't give up the ship" attitude among the owners of western candidates for the Kentucky Derby when they gathered at Churchill Downs training quarters this morning.

Most of them had watched their favorites get dusted off 24 hours earlier when the western Derby colts and fillies were given their first opportunity to do some running under colors and in actual competition.

A night's sleep over the big disappointments apparently did the western owners and trainers a world of good. For they came back to the stalls of their charges fired with more ambition than ever to saddle a horse for the Derby on next Saturday afternoon.

Everybody Has an Alibi.

There was an excuse offered for every Derby candidate that failed yesterday in the race captured by Isiah, an outsider.

Red Whisk, according to the story Jockey Willie Garner told to Owner and Trainer C. C. Van Meter, was knocked by his knees a sixteenth out and never had a chance to run thereafter. So that caused Red Whisk to finish last.

Knockaway, the Irish colt owned by Billy Smith, the old magnate, slipped on his bit on the first turn of the Clark handicap, so was pulled up.

Clark Rochester, another also ran in the Clark handicap, but which turned in a smashing race, was impeded early when some jockey clawed at his saddle girth.

Those are just a few of the reasons why the western Derby eligibles were not so good 24 hours ago. Somebody wrote a book many years ago which he titled "Four Hundred Excuses for a Good Race Horse." That book explains the defeat of all the other western Derby candidates which failed in their first attempt under silk this year.

Depression Has Hit Track Material, Drake, Penn Reveal

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Nineteen hundred and thirty-three may be a natural recession following the bull market of an Olympic track and field year, but nevertheless the fact remains that talent, judged by competition in the country's two great relay centers, Pennsylvania and Drake, is scarce for most performances were distinctly mediocre.

This wasn't true, of course, in all events, but the gatherings of runners and jumpers over the week end didn't create many new meet records and all American collegiate marks remained intact.

Notwithstanding announced figures, the fields of competitors were materially reduced at Philadelphia and Des Moines, Ia., and they were more confined geographically by coats of transportation. The days of special Pullmans passed with the decrease in football receipts, by which these luxuries once were made possible.

Many Came by Auto.

Indeed, many universities sent their track and field men to the games in automobiles, which either were donated or purchased second hand from depleted athletic resources. The motor cavalcades limped into town just before the start of the races and headed home immediately after to keep down expenses.

Brief survey of performances undoubtedly places Keith Brown of Yale, who vaulted 14 feet 3/4 inch for a new Penn record, as the star of the Penn of the individual achievement column. The world mark was set at 14 feet 1 1/2 inches by Bill Miller of United States in the Olympic games last summer. Capt. W. E. Jennings and Irving Siskley of Illinois, co-winners in this event at Drake, didn't do badly under weather conditions, vaulting 13 feet 8 inches.

Jack Keller of Ohio State university was the best of the hurdlers, running the 120 yard event in 14.30 seconds at Pennsylvania, one-tenth of a second slower than the world mark. The high jumpers also belonged in class A. George B. Spitz Jr. of New York university, holder of the National A. A. U. championship at 6 feet 7 inches, and a 6 foot 5 1/2 inch at Penn, while Willis Ward of Michigan was the victor at the Drake relays at 6 feet 4 3/4 inches.

Javelin Marks Good.

The javelin throwers, Duane Purvis of Purdue, and Wernitz of Colgate, each surpassed the 200 mark necessary to superior performance. Purvis won at Drake with a toss of 203.04 feet, which was made in the preliminaries, and Wernitz topped that at Penn with a throw of 204 feet 9 1/4 inches.

Ralph Metcalfe, National collegiate sprint champion, ran the 100 yards at Drake in 9.70 seconds, very good time, considering the water soaked course. John Brooks of Chicago was the best of the broad jumpers at the two meets, with an effort of 24 feet 3 inches. But this completes the list of individual performances of merit except possibly in the hammer throw. One tenth of an inch separated the carnival winners in this event.

May Curtail Program.

Noble Biddinger of Indiana set a new Drake record of 151 feet 4 1/2 inches, while Zarembo of New York university won at Philadelphia with 151 feet, 5 inches.

Officials of the Drake relays have announced that this event will be discontinued.

GREGORY PITCHES AND KRESS HITS, SO SOX WIN, 3-1

Red Gets Homer; Indians Held to 6 Hits.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Cleveland, O., April 30.—Paul Gregory flashed some brilliant pitching before the eyes of the Indians today and Red Kress hit the Sox with a home run into the distant seats. That's just about the whole story of a 3 to 1 White Sox triumph that added joy to the lives of all the Chicagoans except Al Simmons.

The noted slugger couldn't even get a small piece of a boisterous attack carried on by the victors against Clint Brown.

What Gregory did while 15,000 looked on was to throw the Indians into near panic over the scarcity of base hits. He mixed curves and fast balls for five innings with nothing more to disturb him than a scratch single with which Porter opened the battle. Then he slowed down a bit and yielded five more hits, but never was in danger of losing the margin given him by Kress' homer with a man on base in the fourth. Red, for whom the going has been tough of late, also aided in the collection of the other Sox tally in the second.

Wreck Brown's Record.

For Mr. Brown the outcome was more than a mere defeat. It ended the finish of a handsome record he had built up since the season started. The young man was involved in three previous starts, each of which he won by holding his respective enemies to one run. But the Sox lost no time proving that the trio of sterling performers meant nothing to them. They went after Brown so fiercely that they accumulated eight hits in four innings. His chief tormentors during this time were Apppling, Kress and Dykes.

The Sox devoted their energies in the fifth inning to a demonstration of how not to make progress on the bases. Hayes opened the game with a single to right. Hias hit the ball squarely, but it shot on a line to Burnett, whose throw doubled Hayes off first. Swanson singled to short and then was nipped in attempting to steal. Thus, despite two hits, only three men batted and none reached second.

Kress Gets the Range.

Mr. Brown's good luck continued in the second, but it wasn't quite good enough to keep the Sox away from center. Simmons opened with a fly to center and Apppling followed with a single to left. Kress also singled to left. The hit and run play was ordered and Apppling and sending Kress to third. That made it look as if the Chicagoans really were going in for big things, but Grube stopped

HORNSBY'S BAT WINS 2D GAME FOR ST. LOUIS

No Fisticuffs, but Lot of Rain.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Eighteen thousand baseball fans, a great majority of the number who showed up at Wrigley field at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, were on hand when the Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals wound up their day's labor at four minutes to eight, the Cubs in possession of a 7 to 5 victory in the first game of a double header and the Cardinals the owners of a 5 to 3 decision in the eminently exciting second encounter.

Those who turned out to see fisticuffs saw none, but they were not disappointed because of the manner in which the batters elected to say it with base hits, fine fielding plays and, especially in the case of Tex Carleton and Dizzy Dean in the second game, some magnificent pitching in the pinches.

The afternoon was not an unhappy one for Rogers Hornsby, the focal center of the feuding ballclubs which preceded the day's show. Rogers' double and single in the first game went for naught, but also home, with one on and two out in the third inning of the second game gave the Cards a lead which survived later thrashings.

Hartnett Hits Homer.

Hartnett's homer with Hendrick on base produced the first two Cub runs in the second inning of the second game. The other came in the eighth on doubles by Babe Herman and Stephenson and brought Dean on the scene.

Because of the sensational work of Carleton and Dean, the first two of the spectators apparently lost sight of the character of Malone's performance aside from that one pitch to Hornsby. Pat allowed one hit in the first inning, two in the third, and then held the Cardinals hitless until Pepper and Crabtree singled in the ninth.

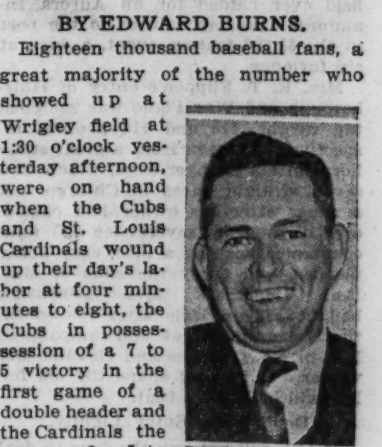

The first game was of such excellence that the patience of the original 23,000 fans in attendance apparently was not tested by the rains and the consequent one hour and 41 minutes suspension of play in the sixth inning.

Cubs Embarrass Hallahan.

The greatest source of satisfaction, perhaps, was found in the embarrassment of Bill Hallahan, Cardinal southpaw pitcher, who had attributed his two earlier decisive victories over the Cubs to the inspiration of Hornsby. On the positive side was the hitting of Frank Demaree and Babe Herman, two worthy gent who have been a little rusty about getting around to their hitting. Frank made a triple and two doubles. Babe made his first homer of the year and beat out two fielding singles with surprising bursts of speed.

Sensational fielding plays abounded. A catch off the left field wall by Stephenson in the third inning won first prize, closely rivalled by one in which Bill Herman and Guy Bush participated with two out in the ninth inning.

Those who attended looking for early belligerence had to be contented with a clash between Catcher Jimmy Wilson and Umpire Moran, which ended with the banishment of Mr. Wilson for the remainder of the afternoon.

SCRATCH IN GRID PRACTICE FATAL TO PITT PLAYER

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 30.—(AP)—Lockjaw, developing from a minor cut suffered in spring football practice, tonight caused the death of William Hall, 19, a sophomore at the University of Pittsburgh. Hall, a resident of Auburn, W. Va., and a tackle on the freshman team last fall, was considered a strong candidate for a line position on the varsity.

Athletic officials at the university said the youth suffered a slight cut on the face in practice on April 20. Tetanus poisoning set in and Hall was sent to a hospital one week ago.

MILLER LEADS BY 1,184 PINS, WITH 10 GAMES TO GO

Joe Miller practically clinched the match bowling championship of the world last night at Ashland Auditorium when he defeated Stewart Watson, 2,289 to 1,917, in the seventh block of their 80 game match.

Miller added 372 to his 812 pin advantage and now is 1,184 pins in front with only ten games to go. The total score for Miller, 14,897; Watson, 12,418.

The match will end tonight at 8:30 o'clock, after which a squad of Petersen Classic bowlers will perform.

Following are seventh block scores: MILLER - 253 218 181 281 278 235 244 234 224 206 202 239 1,917. WATSON - 199 200 173 201 158 229 193 211 186 190-202, 1,917.

Barl Cook of Cincinnati last night took the lead in the Peterson classic with 1,128. He had high games of 268 and 239. Joe Green of Detroit was in second place with 1,074, and Art Scheer of St. Louis had 1,045 for third place.

Spain and Jugo-Slavia Tie in Soccer Match, 1-1

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, April 30.—(AP)—Thanks to a Jugo-Slavian player who accidentally boot the ball into his own goal, Spain gained a 1-1 tie with Jugo-Slavia in an international soccer game played before 15,000 spectators here today.

RACING SEASON OPENS AT TWO TRACKS TODAY

Players Scan Records for Best Mudders.

Mrs. John March of Chicago, Altana likes mud.

E. J. O'Hare, president and general manager of Sportsman's park, has announced that the following officials will handle the meeting:

S. C. Nuckolls, presiding steward; J. J. Grady, F. D. Dwyer, associate stewards; F. P. Dunne, P. C. Galligan and S. S. Shelley, placing judges; T. J. Brown, starter; W. J. Daly, paddock judge; F. P. Dunne, clerk of scales, and R. S. Shelley, racing secretary and handicapper.

Free Admission at Aurora.

Aurora will have plenty besides free admission to the grandstand to offer Chicago racegoers. Probably the best field ever named for an Aurora inaugural program will go to the post in the $1,000 feature event, a dash at six furlongs.

Mrs. R. T. Filippine of Hillside, Ill., and her son, a 115 and 113 pounds, respectively, Pigeon Hole, a great stake horse in his younger days, which won seven straight races in Chicago last summer after his owner had considered others from several ice and milk companies wishing a nice, easy going plodder, will carry the silks of Mrs. Filippine. Mrs. Filippine, who bought Pigeon Hole after his sensational winning streak and campaigned him in New Orleans and Havana last winter. If in good shape the old fellow will be hard to beat.

Don't Take Entry Lightly.

It also will not pay the fans to deal lightly with Frank Seramha's entry of Nyack and Zekiel, if the track is fairly good. Zekiel has won four races and finished second twice in eight starts this year on New Orleans tracks. Others entered include Dollar Princess, Bill Orange, Vox Pop, and Uncommon.

Second place on the Aurora card goes to a 2 year old race over 4 1/2 furlongs. The entries include M. L. Peterson's Just High, a son of Justice F., and therefore bred for mud, and S. J. Molay's Charming Sir. C. W. Hay, general manager of Washington park, has nominated American Red, a likely looking son of Sir Peter which won his first and only start at Lexington.

Aurora's official family is made up of the following: John T. Ireland and Richard A. Ireland, stewards; Charles C. Campana, Clifford V. Abbo and Richard A. Leigh Jr., placing judges; Richard A. Leigh, racing secretary and handicapper; G. R. Wingfield, starter; Thomas V. Craven, paddock judge and time; Charles C. Campana, clerk of scales.

DERBY HORSES on Parade

BY FRENCH LANE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] Louisville, Ky., April 30.—Utopian, a brown colt from the sire, is one candidate the Derby sharpshooters seem to have overlooked this year. There isn't any reason for it either, for right now he looms up as a most formidable contender.

Utopian races for the Wheatley stable, owned by Ogden Mills and Mrs. H. C. Phipps. He is trained by James Fitzsimmons, who prepared Gallant Fox for his championship campaign and a Derby victory a few years back.

It's Muddy.

Look for Utopian. This colt is by St. German's, the sire of Twenty Grand. His dam is Nixie, a daughter of Peter Pan. Many believe these blood lines cannot be improved upon.

It may be that Utopian is partial to soft or muddy going. The one victory he scored in four starts last year came over a muddy track at Saratoga. He began his 3 year old campaign in Maryland the other day by whipping Saratoga and others on a soft track.

He's Ready for the Big Race.

On his breeding, Utopian should be able to run in any kind of going and distance should not stop him. He is a big fellow and his easy campaign last season finds him a thoroughly fresh horse at the beginning of his more important tasks as a 3 year old. With Ogden Mills, one of the owners, there is another Mills who may play an important part in this Derby combination. It is Hank Mills, the jockey, who will have a leg up on Utopian when the parade to the post in the Derby is under way.

WAR ON SMOKE TO CLEANSE AIR FOR FAIR OPENS

City Inspector Seeks Aid of Property Owners.

A clean atmosphere for World's Fair visitors is one of the objects of a campaign of smoke abatement that will be conducted this summer by Frank A. Chambers, chief city smoke inspector. To further the program, he is seeking to enlist the aid of owners of all loop buildings and of large buildings throughout the city.

In a letter to be mailed today to these property owners, Mr. Chambers is urging the installation of equipment that will reduce the emission of smoke and soot.

Besides the summer campaign, Mr. Chambers is continuing to summon in to his office alleged violators of the smoke abatement ordinance. Thirty-five persons and business concerns have been notified to appear today and tomorrow for investigation of reports of smoke emission.

Notified to Appear Today.

HONOR MEMORY OF COOLIDGE AT NORTHAMPTON

Northampton, Mass., April 30.—(AP)—Friends and neighbors of Calvin Coolidge who knew him in the homely surroundings that did not preclude his ultimate ascendancy gathered today in a little hall to honor the memory of the thirtieth President of the United States.

The former President's widow heard some of the great of the state and nation once again bespeak the nation's eulogy. She heard Justice Harlan F. Stone of the United States Supreme court describe her own influence in the life of her husband; the Democratic governor, Joseph B. Ely, praise the qualities of the former President; and Stanley Kling, president of Amherst college, alma mater of the deceased, describe the former President's unobtrusive love for the college of his matriculation.

The Rev. Albert J. Penner, pastor of the Edwards Congregational church, who followed the former President to the her beside the grave where he rests in the Hill cemetery at Plymouth, Vt., delivered the invocation.

The Rev. Thomas F. Cummings, pastor of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church of Northampton, addressed the gathering as a representative of the community in which Calvin Coolidge spent his young manhood.

Justice Stone eulogized a life "of almost continuous public service."

"The strength and dignity of his character, his sane and balanced judgment, his common sense, were the true inheritance from ancestors who, for three centuries, had dwelt among the rugged hills of New England. From his paternal ancestors, Calvin Coolidge inherited the qualities of mind and character which, in so many instances, were carried forth from New England to make fruitful the intellectual and spiritual life of the nation."

Gov. Ely praised the former President as a "great public servant."

STORMS KILL 6; 1,000 HOMELESS IN TWO STATES

Yazoo City, Miss., April 30.—(Special)—Six persons were killed by windstorms last night and early today and more than a thousand were made homeless in southeastern Arkansas and western Mississippi. Four persons were killed in Mississippi and two in Arkansas. The homeless were being taken care of by the Red Cross and the federal government. The damage is estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

About $50,000 property damage was done at Lake Village, Ark. There two persons were killed and several injured. The father of Dr. H. C. Boyd was killed when their house was blown across a highway. The doctor, his wife and four children were injured.

WISCONSIN TAX
GROUP STUDIES
TEACHER COSTSFinds More Trained Than Needed.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.
Wisconsin's expenditures on the training of school teachers are continuing on a basis which prevailed in more prosperous times, although the number of graduates that it is possible to place has fallen off considerably, according to studies made by the Wisconsin Taxpayers' alliance.

Wisconsin has 9 state teacher colleges, 17 teacher training courses in high schools, 20 rural normal schools—of which two, Fond du Lac and Janesville, are to be closed in June—4 schools of agriculture and domestic economy, the University of Wisconsin, and Stout institute. In addition there are a number of private colleges which train teachers.

Training Schools Overlap.
A man prepared by the taxpayers' organization discloses how the various teachers' training schools overlap each other, and an accompanying table lists each teacher's college and tells the number of miles to every public teacher training establishment in its vicinity. In the district of the Eau Claire college, for example, there are 13 teacher training schools. "The farthest one from Eau Claire is 63 miles and the closest is 10 miles."

Educators and legislators of Wisconsin have contended for years that the state was burdened with a tremendous duplication of activity in the numerous institutions training teachers for its schools, "the alliance says." "Interested taxpayers may judge from this showing whether or not there is justification for the contention that state funds are wasted in this particular activity."

Schools Costs Mount.
The following table discloses that more is being spent in the nine teacher colleges now than was spent in all save two years of the eight year period 1925 to 1932 inclusive, although only 46 per cent of the 1932 graduates were placed as compared with 83 per cent in 1925.

School	Number of graduates	Per cent placed
1925	1,765,027	83
1926	1,880,727	80
1927	2,114,449	79
1928	1,985,814	80
1929	2,410,449	81
1930	2,067,018	85
1931	2,304,198	87
1932	2,190,017	46
Total	16,773,103	79

Teacher Turnover Great.
It is explained that in the past the percentage of placements of rural normal school graduates was high because of the large turnover in teaching. The average teacher had three years' experience, indicating an average annual turnover of around 2,000 teachers in a total staff of 6,000. The depression has reduced this turnover, so there has been a considerable decrease in the placement percentage.

The cost for the eight year period of training courses in the high schools was $299,435, with a total of 2,684 graduates. In this department there has been a steady decrease in the cost. The total average attendance in the Wisconsin public schools for the 1925 period was 446,687, while there were 19,245 teachers. The average attendance for the 1932 period was 492,281, with 21,149 teachers. The number of graduates for the three main divisions of teachers' training schools for the 1925 period was 3,941, while the number for the 1932 period was 2,461. Thus, although the number of teachers in the schools has increased only 1,904 in the eight year period, the number of teacher graduates continues better than 3,000.

Steel Mills
May Surpass
30% in Week

Steel mill operations, which rose in April from 14 per cent at the beginning of the month to 29 per cent as an average for last week, "may cross 30 per cent this week, for the first time since November, 1931," says the magazine Steel. The Daily Metal Trade also observes the promise for new improvement in the steel industry.

During the week steel ingot production advanced from 23 1/2 per cent to 26 per cent at Chicago; from 23 to 30 at Youngstown; from 25 to 35 at Buffalo, and from 36 to 41 at Cleveland. "Higher operations are scheduled at Cleveland and Buffalo," says Steel. "But an easier trend is apparent at Pittsburgh and Birmingham."

Further Improvement Expected.
The magazine says that another 100 per cent increase in operations cannot be expected for May, "but growing demands for practically all iron and steel products, a decidedly stronger tone in prices, and the reinforcement that railroads and additional miscellaneous consumers are beginning to throw behind the automotive industry, insure further substantial improvement."

Raw materials are continuing most active, says the review. April shipments of pig iron in the lakes district expanded more than 100 per cent. Scrap prices have been further advanced, 25 cents to $1 a ton in all markets. Basic iron is up 50 cents a ton at Pittsburgh, bringing it into line with other grades.

Finished Steel Prices Firmer.
As for finished steel prices, black sheets are up 2 a ton and cold rolled sheets $3 for the duration of the second quarter. Hot rolled strip has been increased 2 a ton, and cold rolled strip is scheduled to go up $3. "The first effect of these rises is expected to be heavier covering of dealers' summer requirements for second quarter on outstanding orders," says the review.

Releases for finished steel are commensurate with the upturn in automobile production, which increased in April 50 per cent over March. Railroads are chiefly buying themselves "in negotiating further exchange of scrap for rails," Steel says. Structural steel awards for the week, 5,005 tons, show a precipitate decline, "a tremendous volume of bridge work having been awarded in the states awaiting determination of federal aid."

Steel's iron and steel composite this week is up 2 cents to $28.20; the finished steel composite has risen 20 cents to $45.10; and the scrap composite, 50 cents to $8.55.

NEW YORK LIFE DIVIDENDS TOTAL OVER 1 BILLION
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
New York, April 30.—The billion dollar mark in the total amount of dividends paid by the company since its inception has been passed by the New York Life Insurance company. This was announced yesterday by Thomas A. Buckner, president, who says the average disbursements have been at the rate of about $500,000 or every working hour since the company was founded 58 years ago.

Mr. Buckner asserts that this is the first life insurance company to have paid this much in disbursements to policyholders. He points out that the company never has been a stock company, so that its distributions always have gone to policyholders.

Texas Gulf Producing Quarter Net Is $67,553
The Texas Gulf Producing company reported yesterday that for the first quarter of 1933 its gross revenue totaled $291,813. Net income after depreciation, depletion and all deductions was $67,553, compared with $209,278 for the like quarter in 1932. The earnings was at the rate of 9.5 cents a share for the 1933 quarter, compared with 29 cents a share in 1932. The directors of the company have declared a dividend of 2 1/2 per cent payable in stock May 27 to stock of record May 5.

Home Insurance Company Assets Put at $98,030,337
The Home Insurance company, New York, in its eightieth annual statement reported that its assets as of Dec. 31, 1932, totaled $98,030,337, surplus to policy holders stood at $32,167,637 and net surplus was $20,167,637. Cash in banks and trust companies was reported as $9,691,680. The 1932 income was $44,298,885 and disbursements were $41,872,327. The company was founded in 1853, shortly after two devastating fires had swept New York.

GRAIN TRADERS
SEE MENACE IN U. S. FARM BILLFear Vast Power of Agriculture Head.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.
Passage of the farm relief bill by congress, giving the secretary of agriculture dictatorial powers over production, marketing and regulation of prices, puts the grain trade in a worse position than did the federal farm board, which has practically gone out of existence.

What Secretary of Agriculture Wallace proposes to do is not known to the grain trade, as he has not had time to issue a statement. His desire is to control production and put prices on a profitable basis. What that means no one knows.

A few years ago an effort was made by the department of agriculture to find the cost of producing wheat. Investigation showed that the range was from 50 cents to $2 a bushel, depending upon location and method of farming. It is proposed by Secretary Wallace to regulate acreage through leases by the government, thereby controlling production.

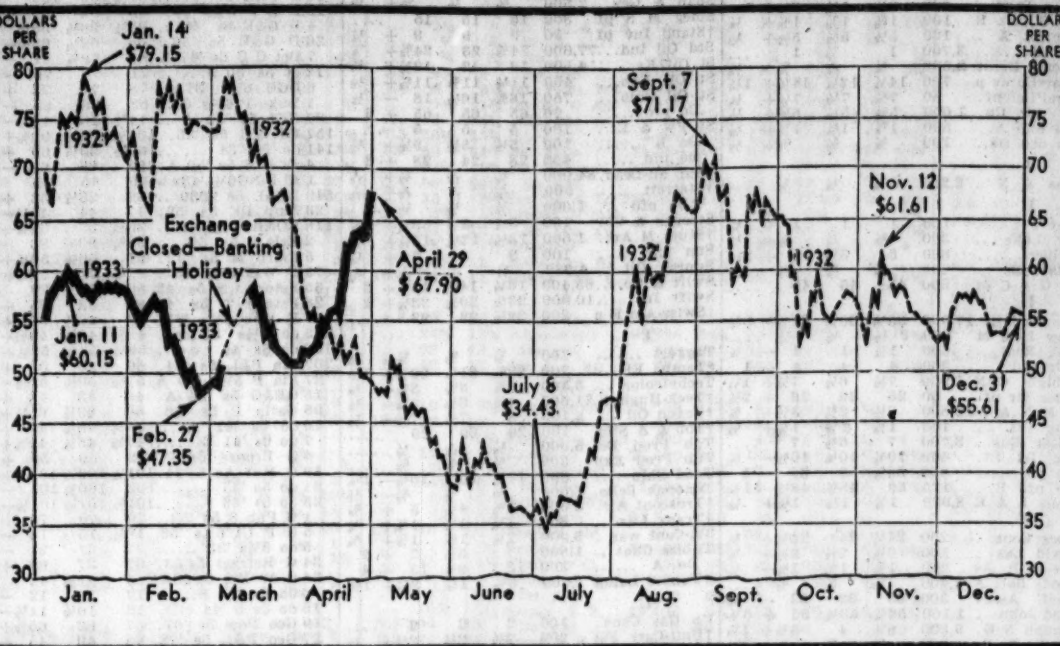

Grain Problems Discussed.
A Chicago grain man, discussing this point, says that farmers are liable to rent the government their poorest lands and farm their best, so that under favorable conditions they will have a heavy production on a small acreage.

The whole agricultural situation the world over presents the most interesting study ever known. It is said that at the coming international conference at Geneva production of wheat will be the foremost topic, as all wheat growing countries are poor, owing to low prices, and it is believed will gladly acquiesce in a movement favoring smaller yields and higher prices.

Wheat traders generally expect higher prices for all grains, with wheat the leader. The public is in the market on the buying side and its operations are likely to continue liberal on expectations that the government will put prices higher.

Eastern Holders Sell Wheat.
Eastern holders of wheat unloaded freely, forcing prices to sell out. Passage of the farm bill caught the trade without any wheat of consequence, and the rush to buy on Saturday carried prices up over 5 cents, to the highest in recent years, with a further rise predicted. The top on May was 71 cents, July, 72 cents, and September, 73 cents. The close was at practically the highest of the season, with May 70 1/2 to 70 3/4 cents, July, 71 1/2 to 72 cents, and September, 72 1/2 to 73 cents. There has been an advance from the low point of the season of practically 25 cents. Net

PLAN FOR BONDS IS ANNOUNCED

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
New York, April 30.—Holders of Consolidated Traction company $15,000,000 5 per cent forty year gold bonds, due June 1, 1933, have the option of extending the bonds at 5 per cent interest until June 1, 1933, or of accepting $650 for each $1,000 bond.

Thomas N. McCarter, president of the company, in announcing these plans, said they were devised because it was impossible for Consolidated Traction company or Public Service Coordinated Transport, its lessee, to get sufficient cash to meet this maturity.

The plans were arranged through the cooperation of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, parent company of the Transport company, which will provide the 65 per cent cash required under the second option. Interest at the annual rate of 5 per cent will be paid on the $1,000 face amount of the bonds from June 1 until the date on which the plan becomes operative.

The Public Service Corporation of New Jersey owns $7,503,000 of the bonds, and upon the plan becoming operative, has agreed to extend these and all additional bonds it acquires under the second option to June 1, 1933. The plan will not become operative until substantially all of the Consolidated Traction bonds have been deposited for extension or sale.

Rush of Buying Reduces Stocks of Rayon Yarn
The rush of buying which developed during the closing weeks of April resulted in a sharp reduction in surplus stocks of rayon yarns at the close of the month, bringing the total down to not more than two or three weeks' supply," says the Textile Organization, published by the Tubize Chailion corporation.

Kroger Grocery Shows Sales of $15,307,934 in 4 Weeks
Kroger Grocery and Baking company reports a sales volume of $15,307,934 for the four weeks ended April 22. This is a decrease of 10.9 per cent from 1932.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS
IN CHICAGO REGION
CONTINUE TO IMPROVE

Business conditions during the last week in Chicago continued their upward trend as a result of national inflationary trends and a persistent rise in commodity prices. Retail sales were better than seasonal, with profits maintaining an average equal to that of last week. Mail order houses reported they were doing a greater amount of business; steel output rose to a new high, and electric power output amounted to only one per cent under the same week last year, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Spring apparel, women's hats and household items for spring refurbishing lead the sales at retail. Crowds of buyers in the department stores continued large. There was also an unprecedented demand for books, particularly those of a financial nature. One of the larger mail order houses reported an increase in sales for the third period of their fiscal year amounting to over 4 million dollars. This increase made a more favorable comparison with their sales averages of a year ago.

GOLD EMBARGO AFFECTS FRENCH
BOND INTEREST

New York, April 30.—Kuhn, Loeb & Co., has announced on behalf of the French municipalities of Bordeaux, Lyons and Marseilles, which will pay the semi-annual interest today on their respective bond issues of $15,000,000 each, that in view of the impossibility of obtaining gold coin for payment in New York, the option of three forms of payment is offered the bondholders.

Payment will be made either (A) in United States currency in New York, upon presentation of the May 1, 1933, coupons at the office of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., American paying agents.

(B) In United States currency in New York at the dollar equivalent of French francs at gold parity of exchange, that is, francs 25.52 per dollar of coupons presented to the American paying agents, said dollar equivalent to be computed by the pay agents on the basis of their average buying rate in New York for exchange on Paris on the day such coupons are presented.

(C) In French francs in Paris at the gold parity of exchange, being francs 25.52 per dollar, upon presentation of the coupons at the office of Banque de Paris et des Pays-Bas.

CANADIAN RAIL
IS RECOMMENDED

OTTAWA, Ont., April 30.—(AP)—Reduction of 20 per cent from the "basic" rates is recommended in a majority report of the board of conciliation appointed to deal with the wage dispute between the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways and their employees. May 1 is recommended as the effective date.

A 10 per cent decrease from the "basic" rates agreed upon between the parties in 1928 and 1929 has been in operation since Dec. 1, 1931. The cut recommended is an additional decrease of 10 per cent.

WALL ST. SEES NATION ON WAY
TO INFLATIONTraders in Rush to Place Orders.

BY FRED HARVEY.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
New York, April 30.—Having accepted inflation at last as a foregone fact, the Wall Street speculative community may be regarded at the moment—according to well informed observers—as approximately 100 per cent equity minded. Probably at no time since the big 1929 crash has trading sentiment been so unanimously to the bull side of the market.

The senate's passage of the Thomas amendment to the farm bill granting extraordinary powers to the President for currency debasement on Friday appeared to have removed the last vestige of doubt on the monetary expansion question. It stampeded traders to the buying side with a rush that ran up a new record in volume of Saturday turnover since Dec. 12, 1931.

727 Issues Traded In.
A total of 727 separate issues was traded in during the short week-end session and the upswing of prices carried values as measured by the Chicago Tribune's index to the highest level since last Sept. 26. The index advanced to 67.90, against the year's low of 46.85 registered on March 2 and the all time bear market low of 33.98, made on July 8 of last year.

Although it is by no means certain that President Roosevelt will use the powers conferred upon him by the Thomas measure or that the use of such powers if invoked would bring about a permanent increase in prices, speculators are convinced that an immediate forward movement is on the cards and that the field is ripe for the making of paper fortunes, whatever the market's later course.

Starts Price Upturn.
While something of this conviction has been at the back of traders' minds for the last month—as evidence by a "creeping" advance that has kept the averages pointing steadily higher—it was not until Secretary Woodin's announcement that the country had gone off the gold standard two weeks ago that the view began to take on formidable proportions. Three "big days" seemed enough to exhaust the steam of that announcement whereupon the market backed down as if to consolidate its new position while traders studied the signs for new developments.

For a time after its introduction in the senate, the fate of the inflation proposal seemed uncertain and the market more than once appeared to be on the verge of a reaction as a result. Then came the defeat of the

BOND OWNERS AVOID BIG FEES OF FORECLOSURE

Get Building and Assure Return on Investment.

BY AL CHASE.

How a defaulted bond issue has been reorganized without foreclosure as a result of 100 per cent cooperation on the part of the bondholders and the equity owner as well as was told yesterday by T. B. McGrath Jr., president of the Mayfair State Savings bank.

On March 7, 1933, the $81,000 bond issue of the Mayfair State Savings bank was reorganized without foreclosure as a result of 100 per cent cooperation on the part of the bondholders and the equity owner as well as was told yesterday by T. B. McGrath Jr., president of the Mayfair State Savings bank.

The owner found it impossible to refinance the loan and, after listening to much advice regarding real estate taxes had entered protest and failed to pay them, said Mr. McGrath. "Penalties had accumulated. He was discouraged and offered me the following proposition: First to give me a deed to the building subject to the taxes second, I was to secure the $81,000 bonds and have them canceled."

Called Bondholders Meeting. Mr. McGrath looked into the situation and found that the building had come to about $1,200 a month in rent and called a meeting of the bondholders for the middle of March.

At this meeting he made the following suggestions to them: If he could secure perfect title to the property he was then to surrender the bonds and canceled; he was to organize a building corporation and the bondholders were to get stock in exchange for their bonds.

The present accepted the plan and the latter was mailed to all the bondholders outlining the plan and within two weeks the entire bond issue was deposited with Mr. McGrath. On April 13 he got a charter from the state for the Forty Sixteen Irving Park Building corporation, with $81,000 common stock.

Complete Reorganization. "Every bondholder subscribed for the same amount of stock as bonds owned by him," said Mr. McGrath. "We held our stockholders' meeting, elected our directors and on April 21 the building corporation was complete, management vested in the directors and the equity owner of the building. Trust company released, bonds cancelled and the bondholders now have a building that nets them $5,000 a year by over and above general expenses, and the general real estate taxes."

No Foreclosure Suit Necessary. The deal could not have been handled this way if the bondholders had not cooperated. I doubt whether the deal could have been consummated if there had been an attempt made to create a bondholders' committee and have the bonds deposited under the broad powers that are ordinarily contained in such agreements and last, but not least, subject the bondholders to charges made in most, if not all reorganizations.

Calls Expenses Moderate. "The entire amount of money expended for the Chicago Title and Trust company expenses, incorporation fees, franchise fees, etc., was $215. The legal fees in connection with the reorganization were $1,500. "I believe that many propositions could be worked out along similar lines if the people received honest and conscientious advice and were given a square deal."

Sonnenschein, Berkson, Lautmann, Levinson & Morse were attorneys for the owner. Mr. McGrath represented the bondholders.

The Mayfair State Savings bank at 4155 Lawrence avenue has closed voluntarily by the board of directors. In September, 1931, and depositors were notified to draw their deposits. They were paid in full.

BRITAIN MAKING PACTS TO BOOST FOREIGN TRADE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.) LONDON, April 30.—The government's efforts towards extending export trade have been outlined by Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade, who told of the negotiations proceeding with various countries for new trade agreements.

Arrangements already are completed which will benefit not only special exporting areas, but a large number of industries in Britain. The government invited representatives of Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Germany, and Argentina to visit London to discuss trade agreements and the results of these are summarized by the minister as follows:

ARGENTINA—Negotiations are proceeding satisfactorily with the hope of a satisfactory outcome in the near future.

SWEDEN—The basis of an agreement is to be submitted to parliament shortly after Easter.

NORWAY AND DENMARK—The basis of an agreement has been reached with the prospect of considerable expansion of trade.

GERMANY—An agreement has been reached which will go a long way towards doubling the amount of British export to Germany. In return British duties on certain German goods will be reduced.

United States Rubber Co. Extends Deposit Time

New York, April 30.—(AP)—The United States Rubber company has extended until May 15 the time for depositing its three year 6 per cent gold notes, due next June 1, under the refunding plan, President F. B. Davis Jr. announced today. Holders of more than a majority of the notes have already accepted the company's offer, Davis stated.

Corn Planting Under Way.
Corn planting is under way over a large part of the belt and is being pushed as fast as possible. The movement of corn from the country is liberal, and heavy shipments have been made by lakes to eastern ports. Stocks, however, are heavy, and trade sentiment is mixed. Largest local holders are said to have unloaded. Iowa is sending in fair quantities of corn which grades irregular, especially at stores in open cribs during the winter.

Prices moved within a range of around 4 cents and closed $\frac{1}{4}$ cent lower to $\frac{1}{4}$ cent higher for the week, May being 35 $\frac{1}{4}$ to 35 $\frac{3}{4}$ cents; July, 33 $\frac{1}{4}$ to 33 $\frac{3}{4}$ cents; September, 40 $\frac{1}{4}$ to 40 $\frac{3}{4}$ cents; November, 40 $\frac{1}{4}$ to 40 $\frac{3}{4}$ cents, and December, 41 $\frac{1}{4}$ to 41 $\frac{3}{4}$ cents. Prices for the week follow:

Recent Buyers Unload Oats.
A liquidating movement in oats was early in the week in sympathy with that in wheat and corn. Offerings were absorbed largely by a new lot of traders and by cash interests and the close was $\frac{1}{4}$ cent higher to $\frac{1}{2}$ cent lower for the week, May being $\frac{1}{4}$ cents; July, 24 $\frac{1}{2}$ cents, and September 24 $\frac{1}{2}$ cents.

Rye prices moved up and down within a fair range, all bulges running to liberal selling, while the same supporting support that has been in evidence for several weeks took hold firmly. Large deliveries on May contracts are expected. May rye closed 48 cents; July, 47½ cents, and September 49¼ cents, with net losses of ½ cent.

soldiers' bonus measure on Thursday followed by the adoption of the Thompson measure and the hesitating public pitched into the market head foremost to convert dollars due for depreciation into corporation shares that ought to follow all the rules to appreciate proportionately.

Inflation, however, while the overwhelmingly important item of the day is not the only reason for the steel's sudden revival of confidence. It has suddenly been discovered—the matter was overlooked, it seems, in the excitement of the monetary issue—that some of the country's major industries, notably the steel and automobile trades, have been gradually picking up while the smoke was rising. Such heavy volume over the national capital

Production in the steel field has gone above the rate of the preceding year for the first time since the depression struck its stride back in 1930. Percentage of output has risen this month from 15 to 29 per cent of capacity, figures which compare with a rise only 23 to 33 in April of 1932 and a decline of from 57 to 47 in the corresponding month of 1931. Automobile production has stepped up 50 per cent during the month, railroad traffic has improved slightly, and electric output—one of the best of all indices to the situation, many think—is at its best levels since August, 1931.

Young is the boom is, it already has progressed far enough to give rise to a sizeable crop of stories of modest fortunes supposed to have been made by traders lucky enough to have gotten in on the ground floor. Foreign interests—and incidentally brokerage comment credits Europe with seeing the possibilities of the situation first—are understood to have reaped heavy profits from early investment followed by later retirement.

New York, April 30.—(P)—Long-term debt obligations of corporations, individuals, and governmental agencies are to be paid from the United States account.

The report was based on a three-month study of internal indebtedness by a group of economists under the auspices of the Twentieth Century fund. Edward A. Filene of Boston is president and Evans Clark executive director of the fund.

The report held that the debt was a major barrier to economic recovery and said the "mere existence of long term debts with a fixed principal and a rate of interest in an economy with rapidly changing income and industrial activity creates problems that challenge American ingenuity in the solution."

The country is said to be twice heavily indebted now, in relation its wealth, as it was before the war.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., April 26.—Debits to individual accounts by banks in the country, which figures are available, as reported to the federal reserve board, aggregated $5 billion $89 million dollars during the week ended April 26, or 18 per cent above the total reported for the preceding week and 6 per cent below the total for the corresponding week of last year. A summary by federal reserve districts follows:

Week ended—	April 26, 1933.	April 23, 1932.	April 23, 1931.
New York	$3,338,000,000	$3,348,741,000	$3,348,741,000

San Francisco	111,330,000	110,100,000	110,100,000
Totals	$5,908,507,000	$5,824,134,000	$5,824,134,000

Business activity continued to advance slowly throughout the country during the week ended April 26, although financial developments dominated the economic stage, according to the weekly survey of domestic business conditions made public today by the commerce department.

Markets of agricultural commodities were higher, the major products moving to primary markets at about the same rate as the corresponding week of 1932. Cotton receipts were above a year ago. Refined sugar production advanced to 23 per cent of capacity, reaching the level of a year ago. Automobile schedules were further expanded, and the output was in excess of the same week of 1932. Post-Easter retail trade held up well. For the week ended April 26, production was reported to be in the bituminous coal, lumber, steel, automobile, and electric power industries.

Rail Traffic Improves.

Freight car loadings increased slightly, but less than seasonally for the week. Construction contracts awarded to the first half of April indicate continued stagnation in this basic industry.
